Ice-Choked Sandusky River Brings Havoc to Fremont

TWISTED OUT OF SHAPE — This aerial view shows a gaping hole in the top of the St. Louis Arena (top), site of a coming welterweight title fight, and the torn-away antenna (bottom) of a local television station — both among the inanimate victims of a tornado which ripped through a region seven blocks wide and 30 blocks long.

St. Louis Tornado Toll Reaches 21; 1,400 Homeless

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The number of dead caused by the tornado which gouged across St. Louis Tuesday has reached 21. Another seven persons are missing, and at least 70 more are in hospitals.

Only one of those hospitalized was on the critical list.

Relief workers still are measuring dimensions of the misery inflicted by the twister. The Red Cross estimated 1,400 homeless in St. Louis and the county.

The Insurance Board of St. Louis said 4,000 buildings were damaged at a loss of 12 million dollars.

President Eisenhower declared the stricken city a disaster area, making it eligible for federal relief funds.

The tornado first touched down with minor damage in Brentwood, a West St. Louis suburb. Then it cut a path across the southeast corner of Forest Park. The worst destruction was in crowded Negro tenements on a path from the park to the vicinity of Busch Stadium, home of the St. Louis Cardinals. This area is a mile to two miles from downtown St. Louis.

Eight persons died when the tornado crushed a house at Whittier and Delmar.

There was also serious damage in the section of St. Louis known as "Greenwich Village" near the intersection of Boyle and Olive streets. In this area are many antique shops, apartments and taverns.

The tornado struck without warning and moved at tremendous speed. It took only minutes to blow itself out in the Busch Stadium area, after leveling a 380-foot radio tower and a 575-foot television tower.

The St. Louis Civil Defense Agency acknowledged it did not function smoothly in spite of eight years of preparation for such a disaster. CD officials blamed the Weather Bureau for not predicting the tornado and sending out an alert.

The Weather Bureau replied that would have been impossible.

The tornado followed almost the same path of one in 1927 which killed 78.

Bodies No. 20 and 21 were dug from the rubble of a house in the 4200 block of Washington Ave. Tuesday night. They were identified as Mrs. Lee Buffs, 24, and her 18-month-old son, Lee Jr.

Nike-Zeus Missile Denied Extra Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Department of Defense spokesman says the budget asks no money for production of the Nike-Zeus missile because it is not far enough advanced.

The Nike-Zeus has been designed as a major defense against enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles.

W. J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense, estimated the status of the Nike-Zeus Tuesday while replying to criticism by two Army generals.

Maj. Gen. William W. Dick Jr., special weapons chief, and Maj. Gen. Dwight E. Beach, air defense director, had told the House Space Committee Monday that the missile was far enough advanced to permit a start on production of some of its parts.

They said their recommendations included 30 million dollars for production this fiscal year and 700 million dollars next fiscal year. The budget does not include any money for production.

McNeil, however, told the Senate-House Economic Committee that the budget does contain money to develop the missile.

"Every possible cent is being spent to perfect it," said McNeil, considered the Pentagon's top financial expert.

"But we have not put in money for bases or production lines because the missile is not ready."

Scioto Rises To 17.29 Feet Crest Tonight

The Scioto River stood at 17.29 feet at about noon today, stranding at least two families residing along the Canal Road.

The Columbus Weather Station stated at noon that the Scioto should crest here at 18 feet around midnight. Informed sources said Route 762 and the Canal Road were closed due to high water.

The temperature rose to 66 degrees yesterday afternoon, its highest since January 21. The low this morning was 24 degrees a drop of 42 degrees in a little over 12 hours.

A total of 0.43 inches of rain fell yesterday morning, bringing the monthly rainfall to 1.54 inches, 0.6 inches higher than the monthly normal.

Ohio Senate To Vote Today On SUB Issue

Dems Need 2 GOP Ballots To Set Up Emergency Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Senate Democrats scheduled for this afternoon a go - for - broke, stand-up-and-be-counted floor vote on the controversial supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) bill.

Democratic leaders need the help of at least two Republicans to pass as an emergency measure the bill to legalize simultaneous payment of SUB and state jobless benefits. They scheduled the key floor test still lacking firm assurances that the two Republican votes are in the bag.

If passed as an emergency measure, the bill would be effective as soon as Gov. Michael V. DiSalle signs it. That would shut off any attempt by opponents to seek a referendum on the issue—a decision by a direct vote of the people.

Democrats dominate the Senate 20-13, but emergency bills require two-thirds approval—at least 22 votes.

Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) told newsmen he is confident at least two—perhaps more—Republicans will support the emergency clause.

The Democrats have plenty of votes to approve it as a law which would be effective after the normal 90-day waiting period. But that, of course, would give opponents a chance to seek a referendum.

In their search for Republican aid, Democrats are casting their most hopeful glances in the direction of Sens. Ross Pepple of Lima and Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin.

However, Mosher said in a prepared statement today that although he favors SUB, he will not vote for the emergency at the present time.

"I suggest that the bill should be sent to the House without the emergency feature," he said. "There will be time enough for the Senate to decide on the emergency after we know what modifications the House will make in the bill."

Senate Republicans will caucus before the floor test. Most of them oppose SUB, but there is little chance Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) will attempt to bind all Republicans to vote according to the views of the majority in the caucus. In all his years as Republican Senate leader, he has never bound a caucus.

The Senate State Government Committee last night recommended passage of a fair employment practices bill after getting DiSalle's approval of the measure in its present form. The bill would create a commission aimed at preventing racial—or other—discrimination in employment.

The bill probably will be up for a Senate floor vote Wednesday.

The House adopted resolutions to:

Declare Van Wert County as "the peony center of the world."

Designate 1959 as Lincoln Sesquicentennial Year in Ohio.

Among 20 bills introduced Tuesday were measures to:

Increase the state tax on racetrack betting about one million dollars a year and halving the "Ohio Fair fund" which now runs $600,000 a year. The measure also would levy a 15 per cent tax on racetrack admissions to raise $350,000 for counties which would be distributed through the local government fund.

Increase the fee for issuing or transferring motor vehicle license tags from 25 to 50 cents.

The House Elections and Federal Relations Committee recommended passage, 18-1, of a bill increasing fees charged to those who use the services of county offices. The measure is almost identical with one passed in the 1957 legislative sesssion but vetoed by former Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Ingratitude, That's What

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — John B. Leonard was angered when his 1958 city tax notice listed a $4.30 billing for an ancient four-room house.

Red-faced city officials hurriedly sent a letter advising Leonard the tax had been dropped.

They suddenly remembered that last year Leonard had let city and county firemen burn the house in a training exercise.

Greeks, Turks OK Cyprus Plan

British Approval Asked by Countries

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Greece and Turkey agreed today on a proposed constitution for an independent Cyprus and prepared to ask Britain to approve it.

Prime Ministers Constantine Karamanlis of Greece and Adnan Menderes of Turkey, meeting in the final session of their conference here, approved the draft prepared by their foreign ministers in the five days of bargaining.

An end at last appeared in sight to the long and bitter dispute over the British island colony in the Mediterranean, off the south coast of Turkey.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu said the agreement would strengthen the Western alliance.

Zorlu and Greek Foreign Minister Evanghelos Averoff prepared to fly to London to submit the proposed constitution to British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd.

In the British capital, a Foreign Office spokesman said Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government wholeheartedly welcomed the news. British officials would not comment further until they had studied the constitution in detail. But London's approval was considered certain since Greece and Turkey had agreed, and since the constitution guarantees Britain will retain the big military bases she has established on Cyprus.

News of the agreement also heartened all other members of the North Atlantic Alliance. Greece and Turkey form NATO's eastern anchor, and the Cyprus fight had halted cooperation between them for several years.

Britain has ruled Cyprus since 1879, and the island now is the major British base in the east Mediterranean. Of its 500,000 people, 400,000 are of Greek descent and 100,000 of Turkish origin.

For four years British troops have been fighting a guerrilla rebellion by EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground which originally demanded that Cyprus unite with Greece. The Turkish minority demanded continuance of British rule or partition of the island between its two communities. Independence guaranteed by the troops of all three nations, with special rights for the Turkish minority, is the solution that has been worked out.

Potbellied Stoves Pose Problem in School Safety Drive

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's campaign to eliminate fire hazards in public schools ran up against a problem today — the old potbellied stove in the one-room school.

The State Labor and Industry Department recently ordered school officials to be sure to comply with fire safety regulations by enclosing heating plants with fire resistant material.

Tuesday, the supervising principal of seven one-room schools in Lancaster County, each with a potbellied stove in the middle of the room, asked a question.

"How can you surround a potbellied stove with heat resistant material and still get the room heated?" C. H. Hartzeler wrote the department.

Ike Indicates Summit Parley Later in Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently believes that a summit conference late this year is a definite possibility.

Such a meeting would bring him and other Western government heads face-to-face with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for a discussion of critical East-West issues. These undoubtedly would include questions of Germany and of disarmament.

Whether a conference is actually arranged probably will depend partly on whether East-West negotiations in the meantime ease Soviet pressures to get the United States, Britain and France out of West Berlin.

Eisenhower himself brought up the subject of a summit meeting briefly at his news conference Tuesday in discussing a question about the effect of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness on prospects for a foreign ministers meeting.

The President said he thought that Dulles' condition would not delay a foreign ministers conference, but noted that there has been no agreement with the Soviets yet on actually holding such a session. Then he added:

"I believe the Russians themselves . . . more concerned, Mr. Khrushchev is concerned, in a heads of government meeting, as he calls an informal and without-an-agenda type.

"Well, that would take a great deal of preparation."

Soviet spokesmen, including Khrushchev and Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan have repeatedly called for a heads of government conference.

Despite the disagreement over the amount of advance preparation needed, informed officials say that a summit conference is indeed a possibility as things now stand.

Diplomats have reported that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is particularly interested in such a meeting. Macmillan faces the prospect of parliamentary elections within a year. Washington authorities say British political pressures were responsible for bringing about the summit conference at Geneva in 1955.

Alert Bank Employes Spot Forgery Try

Alert employes at the Circleville Savings and Banking Co., N. Court St., brought a quick downfall for a man who attempted to forge a check there for the second time within two days.

Held in the Pickaway County Jail is John Daniel Exline, 38, Route 4, Circleville, who allegedly forged a check at the bank Saturday, then attempted to pull the same trick Monday. Alert employes foiled the move.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said Saturday's forgery was discovered shortly after Exline left the bank. The sheriff's office started an immediate investigation.

Apparently encouraged by his first success, Exline decided to try again. Recognizing Exline, a bank teller delayed the man and notified the sheriff. Deputies Radcliff and Robert Hoover apprehended the man a few moments later while he still was waiting at the teller's window.

• • •

DEPUTY Radcliff said Exline also is accused of forgery in Jackson and Ross Counties. According to the deputy, the accused has served time in the Iowa State Penitentiary for auto larceny.

Appearing yesterday in Circleville Municipal Court, Exline was bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $2,000 bond.

Successor to Sherman Adams Seems To Please Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are crediting presidential assistant Wilton B. Persons with bringing about a new White House awareness of political matters in appointments.

Persons, who succeeded Sherman Adams as President Eisenhower's right hand man, apparently is pleasing congressional Republicans with his cooperativeness.

Unlike Adams, who sometimes preferred a Democrat to a Republican, Persons is reported to feel that the road to harmony within the party is through paying attention to the recommendations of party senators and House members when there is a job to fill.

Congressional Republicans have pressed this same view upon GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, with reports of varying success. There have been some complaints, but most of them think Alcorn's record of consulting with them is improving.

For his own part, Alcorn apparently is finding it a great deal easier under the Persons regime than under Adams to convey his appointment recommendations to Eisenhower.

Unlike Adams, Persons has assigned specific responsibilities within his office and has assigned David Kendall as his deputy to pay personal attention to patronage matters.

Eisenhower told his news conference Tuesday that no one, including Alcorn, can veto any selection he may make for an appointment. But his statement that "political considerations come in" was interpreted as indicating more awareness of this factor than some Republicans thought he had shown in the past.

Abe Lincoln Observances Are Plentiful

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Observances honoring Abraham Lincoln today were the order of the day on virtually every level of American civic life.

President Eisenhower planned to attend a memorial banquet tonight in Washington. The President has proclaimed this year as Lincoln Sesqui-centennial Year.

Other celebrations marking the 150th anniversary Thursday of the birth of the Civil War President were planned throughout the week from coast to coast.

The NBC television network has prepared a film presentation of photographs and drawings of Lincoln during the Civil War years for 8:30 p.m. EST tonight.

Congress gets into the act Thursday when a joint session will be held. Carl Sandburg, famed Lincoln biographer, will give an address and actor Fredric March will read the Gettysburg Address.

The sesquicentennial events began early this year and are scheduled to continue into the summer.

Hodgenville, Ky., Lincoln's birthplace, was to be the scene Thursday of the first sale of the new one-cent Lincoln postage stamp.

Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky will place a wreath on the door of the cabin where Lincoln was born Feb. 12, 1809. George Moore, executive assistant to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, will speak.

An international audience of some 20 ambassadors will attend a program Thursday night featuring a speech by Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin in Springfield, Ill.

24 Schools' Issues Near $25 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-four school districts around the state are going to ask for almost 25 million dollars at special elections during the next four months.

All have asked—and received—permission from the State Board of Tax Appeals to submit the question of bond issues to the voters. In most cases, the districts seek money to acquire sites, build and equip schools, or remodel buildings.

Several school districts have already submitted bond issues to a vote since the Nov. 4 election. The most recent was Tuesday, when Rootstown Local District of Portage County submitted the question of an $85,000 issue.

Six districts submit their bond issues to a vote in March, one in April, sixteen in May and one in June, as it now stands.

Lancaster City District is asking permission for the largest bond issue—$4,190,000. Warsaw Local of Coshocton County asks the least—$50,000.

A proposed bond issue comes to the appeals board's attention only if it will make the district's total net debt more than 4 per cent of the total value of all its property listed for tax purposes. It can't reach 9 per cent and be okayed.

But it has been three or four years since an application to submit a school district's bond issue to the voters was rejected, tax officials say.

DiSalle Awaits Tax Research

Message on Budget May Be Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Research on tax problems may delay the budget message to the Legislature, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle indicated today.

He told newsmen at a press conference that the target date still is Feb. 23. But he expressed doubt over completing the message by that time.

One of the problems, he said, is the question of eliminating use of sales tax stamps. It costs the state 11½ million dollars a year to issue the stamps. Charities get nearly 4½ million dollars by redeeming stamps, but the governor said that money could be made up by further subsidies to the blind and other welfare groups.

DiSalle said he will say in his budget message what additional taxes are needed for state operations.

"We will let the thing fall just as we see it," he told newsmen.

Highway Director Everett S. Preston has ordered an examination of payrolls in the department's divisional office at Cleveland. DiSalle said Preston is looking into reports of padding there.

The governor said he will ask the Ohio Racing Commission about a limit on racing dates for any one community.

One of those questions will be whether racing dates should be limited to a specific number in an area like Cleveland, instead of 44 days for each track, as under present regulations.

The governor repeated a change in his feeling against life imprisonment without hope of pardon.

"I have come to the conclusion that the elimination of all hope would create many, many problems within the institution that would mitigate against rehabilitation and create a class of rather desperate people," the governor said.

Floods Close 138 Highways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department reported today that 138 Ohio highways are closed in places—mainly in the northwestern section—because of flood waters.

Otherwise, primary and secondary roads are partly snow-covered and slippery in spots northeast of Cleveland, Canton, Millersburg and St. Clairsville.

Roads were slippery in spots northwest of Van Wert, Kenton, Upper Sandusky, Mansfield, Mount Vernon, Millersburg, Canton and Cleveland, and in the vicinity of Jackson and McArthur in southern Ohio.

Northern Ohio Still Battling Flood Waters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The ice-choked Sandusky River threatened the city of Fremont and its 16,000 citizens from the north and south today.

It was the hardest hit of Ohio's northern cities in new floods that struck for the second time in less than a month.

Racing through the Fremont business section and a part of the residential area, the water reached a depth of little more than 18 feet early today, then remained fairly steady.

That was a foot deeper than the crest of the flood which coursed through the city three weeks ago. Fremont still is in a state of emergency from that disaster.

An estimated 1,000 Fremont residents were forced to evacuate their homes Tuesday and early today. Another 200 to 500 evacuees still are homeless from the first flood. The river was out of its banks for three miles through the city.

A huge ice jam, piled up for weeks, clogs the Sandusky River to the north, where the water normally runs through marshy areas into Sandusky Bay on Lake Erie.

Upstream, to the south, there is another mass of ice, five feet thick in some places, behind the Ballville Dam.

An Ohio National Guard team made one unsuccessful effort Tuesday night to crack the ice north of Fremont. Their job is to cut a path to release the mounting waters, if possible.

But everyone in Fremont hoped the Ballville Dam would hold back the ice upstream.

If it should cut loose suddenly, it could sweep down on the business district and wreck havoc in an area already under nearly two feet of water.

The Sandusky River crested Tuesday night at Tiffin, upstream more than 20 miles. Then it rose again this morning. Usually the river reacts in the same fashion at Fremont, about 10 hours later.

At Findlay, on the Blanchard River, a crest was reached Tuesday night, and prospects were brighter today.

In the northeast corner of the state, at Warren, the Mahoning River was about four feet above flood stage. Although its pace slackened, Safety Director Joseph Windham declared a state of emergency.

The water poured through the flats section in the southern end of town, inundating the same area that was hit last month.

At least three deaths—directly and indirectly—have resulted from the state's second 1959 floods.

The latest was that of a 43-year-old Michigan truck driver. The Ohio Highway Patrol reported the body of John Johnson of Wyandotte was found in his truck, which was about two-thirds submerged in a ditch along Ohio 199, about 15 miles east of Bowling Green.

His truck apparently had plowed into several inches of water and overturned in a ditch.

Approximately three weeks ago the flood toll in Ohio mounted to 15 deaths and property damage of more than 96 million dollars.

Statewide, the situation seemed less critical this time.

Two Wood County towns reported trouble from flood waters. At Pemberville, 14 miles northeast of Bowling Green, 22 families were evacuated when the Portage River overflowed its banks. Water was in the basements of half the buildings in the town of about 1,200. Three bridges were closed, and most traffic in the area halted by flood waters. The water started to recede about 8:15 a.m., however, and danger of further flooding was believed past.

Cygnet, nine miles south of Bowling Green, hard hit by last January's flood, got the overflow waters of Rocky Fork Creek again—this time 18 inches more than the January flood. There some 60 people had to be evacuated.

At Findlay, with a population of 24,000, the Blanchard River crested late Tuesday night at more

An end at last appeared in sight to the long and bitter dispute over the British island colony in the Mediterranean, off the south coast of Turkey.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu said the agreement would strengthen the Western alliance.

Zorlu and Greek Foreign Minister Evanghelos Averoff prepared to fly to London to submit the proposed constitution to British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd.

In the British capital, a Foreign Office spokesman said Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government wholeheartedly welcomed the news. British officials would not comment further until they had studied the constitution in detail. But London's approval was considered certain since Greece and Turkey had agreed, and since the constitution guarantees Britain will retain the big military bases she has established on Cyprus.

News of the agreement also heartened all other members of the North Atlantic Alliance. Greece and Turkey form NATO's eastern anchor, and the Cyprus fight had halted cooperation between them for several years.

Britain has ruled Cyprus since 1879, and the island now is the major British base in the east Mediterranean. Of its 500,000 people, 400,000 are of Greek descent and 100,000 of Turkish origin.

For four years British troops have been fighting a guerrilla rebellion by EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground which originally demanded that Cyprus unite with Greece. The Turkish minority demanded continuance of British rule or partition of the island between its two communities. Independence guaranteed by the troops of all three nations, with special rights for the Turkish minority, is the solution that has been worked out.

Potbellied Stoves Pose Problem in School Safety Drive

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's campaign to eliminate fire hazards in public schools ran up against a problem today — the old potbellied stove in the one-room school.

The State Labor and Industry Department recently ordered school officials to be sure to comply with fire safety regulations by enclosing heating plants with fire resistant material.

Tuesday, the supervising principal of seven one-room schools in Lancaster County, each with a potbellied stove in the middle of the room, asked a question.

"How can you surround a potbellied stove with heat resistant material and still get the room heated?" C. H. Hartzeler wrote the department.

Ike Indicates Summit Parley Later in Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently believes that a summit conference late this year is a definite possibility.

Such a meeting would bring him and other Western government heads face-to-face with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for a discussion of critical East-West issues. These undoubtedly would include questions of Germany and of disarmament.

Whether a conference is actually arranged probably will depend partly on whether East-West negotiations in the meantime ease Soviet pressures to get the United States, Britain and France out of West Berlin.

Eisenhower himself brought up the subject of a summit meeting briefly at his news conference Tuesday in discussing a question about the effect of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness on prospects for a foreign ministers meeting.

The President said he thought that Dulles' condition would not delay a foreign ministers conference, but noted that there has been no agreement with the Soviets yet on actually holding such a session. Then he added:

"I believe the Russians themselves . . . more concerned, Mr. Khrushchev is concerned, in a heads of government meeting, as he calls an informal and without-an-agenda type.

"Well, that would take a great deal of preparation."

Soviet spokesmen, including Khrushchev and Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan have repeatedly called for a heads of government conference.

Despite the disagreement over the amount of advance preparation needed, informed officials say that a summit conference is indeed a possibility as things now stand.

Diplomats have reported that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is particularly interested in such a meeting. Macmillan faces the prospect of parliamentary elections within a year. Washington authorities say British political pressures were responsible for bringing about the summit conference at Geneva in 1955.

Alert Bank Employes Spot Forgery Try

Alert employes at the Circleville Savings and Banking Co., N. Court St., brought a quick downfall for a man who attempted to forge a check there for the second time within two days.

Held in the Pickaway County Jail is John Daniel Exline, 38, Route 4, Circleville, who allegedly forged a check at the bank Saturday, then attempted to pull the same trick Monday. Alert employes foiled the move.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said Saturday's forgery was discovered shortly after Exline left the bank. The sheriff's office started an immediate investigation.

Apparently encouraged by his first success, Exline decided to try again. Recognizing Exline, a bank teller delayed the man and notified the sheriff. Deputies Radcliff and Robert Hoover apprehended the man a few moments later while he still was waiting at the teller's window.

• • •

DEPUTY Radcliff said Exline also is accused of forgery in Jackson and Ross Counties. According to the deputy, the accused has served time in the Iowa State Penitentiary for auto larceny.

Appearing yesterday in Circleville Municipal Court, Exline was bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $2,000 bond.

Successor to Sherman Adams Seems To Please Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are crediting presidential assistant Wilton B. Persons with bringing about a new White House awareness of political matters in appointments.

Persons, who succeeded Sherman Adams as President Eisenhower's right hand man, apparently is pleasing congressional Republicans with his cooperativeness.

Unlike Adams, who sometimes preferred a Democrat to a Republican, Persons is reported to feel that the road to harmony within the party is through paying attention to the recommendations of party senators and House members when there is a job to fill.

Congressional Republicans have pressed this same view upon GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, with reports of varying success. There have been some complaints, but most of them think Alcorn's record of consulting with them is improving.

For his own part, Alcorn apparently is finding it a great deal easier under the Persons regime than under Adams to convey his appointment recommendations to Eisenhower.

Unlike Adams, Persons has assigned specific responsibilities within his office and has assigned David Kendall as his deputy to pay personal attention to patronage matters.

Eisenhower told his news conference Tuesday that no one, including Alcorn, can veto any selection he may make for an appointment. But his statement that "political considerations come in" was interpreted as indicating more awareness of this factor than some Republicans thought he had shown in the past.

Abe Lincoln Observances Are Plentiful

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Observances honoring Abraham Lincoln today were the order of the day on virtually every level of American civic life.

President Eisenhower planned to attend a memorial banquet tonight in Washington. The President has proclaimed this year as Lincoln Sesqui-centennial Year.

Other celebrations marking the 150th anniversary Thursday of the birth of the Civil War President were planned throughout the week from coast to coast.

The NBC television network has prepared a film presentation of photographs and drawings of Lincoln during the Civil War years for 8:30 p.m. EST tonight.

Congress gets into the act Thursday when a joint session will be held. Carl Sandburg, famed Lincoln biographer, will give an address and actor Fredric March will read the Gettysburg Address.

The sesquicentennial events began early this year and are scheduled to continue into the summer.

Hodgenville, Ky., Lincoln's birthplace, was to be the scene Thursday of the first sale of the new one-cent Lincoln postage stamp.

Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky will place a wreath on the door of the cabin where Lincoln was born Feb. 12, 1809. George Moore, executive assistant to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, will speak.

An international audience of some 20 ambassadors will attend a program Thursday night featuring a speech by Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin in Springfield, Ill.

24 Schools' Issues Near $25 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-four school districts around the state are going to ask for almost 25 million dollars at special elections during the next four months.

All have asked—and received—permission from the State Board of Tax Appeals to submit the question of bond issues to the voters. In most cases, the districts seek money to acquire sites, build and equip schools, or remodel buildings.

Several school districts have already submitted bond issues to a vote since the Nov. 4 election. The most recent was Tuesday, when Rootstown Local District of Portage County submitted the question of an $85,000 issue.

Six districts submit their bond issues to a vote in March, one in April, sixteen in May and one in June, as it now stands.

Lancaster City District is asking permission for the largest bond issue—$4,190,000. Warsaw Local of Coshocton County asks the least—$50,000.

A proposed bond issue comes to the appeals board's attention only if it will make the district's total net debt more than 4 per cent of the total value of all its property listed for tax purposes. It can't reach 9 per cent and be okayed.

But it has been three or four years since an application to submit a school district's bond issue to the voters was rejected, tax officials say.

DiSalle Awaits Tax Research

Message on Budget May Be Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Research on tax problems may delay the budget message to the Legislature, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle indicated today.

He told newsmen at a press conference that the target date still is Feb. 23. But he expressed doubt over completing the message by that time.

One of the problems, he said, is the question of eliminating use of sales tax stamps. It costs the state 11½ million dollars a year to issue the stamps. Charities get nearly 4½ million dollars by redeeming stamps, but the governor said that money could be made up by further subsidies to the blind and other welfare groups.

DiSalle said he will say in his budget message what additional taxes are needed for state operations.

"We will let the thing fall just as we see it," he told newsmen.

Highway Director Everett S. Preston has ordered an examination of payrolls in the department's divisional office at Cleveland. DiSalle said Preston is looking into reports of padding there.

The governor said he will ask the Ohio Racing Commission about a limit on racing dates for any one community.

One of those questions will be whether racing dates should be limited to a specific number in an area like Cleveland, instead of 44 days for each track, as under present regulations.

The governor repeated a change in his feeling against life imprisonment without hope of pardon

"I have come to the conclusion that the elimination of all hope would create many, many problems within the institution that would mitigate against rehabilitation and create a class of rather desperate people," the governor said.

Floods Close 138 Highways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department reported today that 138 Ohio highways are closed in places—mainly in the northwestern section—because of flood waters.

Otherwise, primary and secondary roads are partly snow-covered and slippery in spots northeast of Cleveland, Canton, Millersburg and St. Clairsville.

Roads were slippery in spots northwest of Van Wert, Kenton, Upper Sandusky, Mansfield, Mount Vernon, Millersburg, Canton and Cleveland, and in the vicinity of Jackson and McArthur in southern Ohio.

Northern Ohio Still Battling Flood Waters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The ice-choked Sandusky River threatened the city of Fremont and its 16,000 citizens from the north and south today.

It was the hardest hit of Ohio's northern cities in new floods that struck for the second time in less than a month.

Racing through the Fremont business section and a part of the residential area, the water reached a depth of little more than 18 feet early today, then remained fairly steady.

That was a foot deeper than the crest of the flood which coursed through the city three weeks ago. Fremont still is in a state of emergency from that disaster.

An estimated 1,000 Fremont residents were forced to evacuate their homes Tuesday and early today. Another 200 to 500 evacuees still are homeless from the first flood. The river was out of its banks for three miles through the city.

A huge ice jam, piled up for weeks, clogs the Sandusky River to the north, where the water normally runs through marshy areas into Sandusky Bay on Lake Erie.

Upstream, to the south, there is another mass of ice, five feet thick in some places, behind the Ballville Dam.

An Ohio National Guard team made one unsuccessful effort Tuesday night to crack the ice north of Fremont. Their job is to cut a path to release the mounting waters, if possible.

But everyone in Fremont hoped the Ballville Dam would hold back the ice upstream.

If it should cut loose suddenly, it could sweep down on the business district and wreck havoc in an area already under nearly two feet of water.

The Sandusky River crested Tuesday night at Tiffin, upstream more than 20 miles. Then it rose again this morning. Usually the river reacts in the same fashion at Fremont, about 10 hours later.

At Findlay, on the Blanchard River, a crest was reached Tuesday night, and prospects were brighter today.

In the northeast corner of the state, at Warren, the Mahoning River was about four feet above flood stage. Although its pace slackened, Safety Director Joseph Windham declared a state of emergency.

The water poured through the flats section in the southern end of town, inundating the same area that was hit last month.

At least three deaths—directly and indirectly—have resulted from the state's second 1959 floods.

The latest was that of a 43-year-old Michigan truck driver. The Ohio Highway Patrol reported the body of John Johnson of Wyandotte was found in his truck, which was about two-thirds submerged in a ditch along Ohio 199, about 15 miles east of Bowling Green.

His truck apparently had plowed into several inches of water and overturned in a ditch.

Approximately three weeks ago the flood toll in Ohio mounted to 15 deaths and property damage of more than 96 million dollars.

Statewide, the situation seemed less critical this time.

Two Wood County towns reported trouble from flood waters. At Pemberville, 14 miles northeast of Bowling Green, 22 families were evacuated when the Portage River overflowed its banks. Water was in the basements of half the buildings in the town of about 1,200. Three bridges were closed, and most traffic in the area halted by flood waters. The water started to recede about 8:15 a.m., however, and danger of further flooding was believed past.

Cygnet, nine miles south of Bowling Green, hard hit by last January's flood, got the overflow waters of Rocky Fork Creek again—this time 18 inches more than the January flood. There some 60 people had to be evacuated.

At Findlay, with a population of 24,000, the Blanchard River crested late Tuesday night at more

Ashville Retires Bonds

The Ashville village council has recalled all outstanding council bonds against the village, it was announced Monday by council clerk, Orville Ruh.

The recall became effective upon the joint agreement of the Ashville council and members of the village Board of Public Affairs through the courtesy of the Citizens Bank of Ashville, holder of the bonds.

The bonds were issued July 1, 1948 to help finance the water softener improvement to the Ashville Water Works.

Village officials acted upon the advice of Ruh who stated that the village sinking fund had a sufficient balance to absorb the bonds' recall.

• • •

THE SINKING FUND balance is also sufficient to retire the amount of general obligation bonds outstanding as they become due.

Ruh said that all previous council bonds and interest were retired from the Water Works revenue fund. The Water Works Board had waived payment of all hydrant rentals until the amount of general obligation bonds was consumed.

"This action gives the village a financial boost and eliminates the obstacle of further issuance of council bonds to make the necessary improvements in the village," Ruh concluded.

than nine feet above flood stage, about a foot higher than the January mark. Approximately one-fourth of the city was covered with water. Civil defense officials said about 200 persons are known to have evacuated, and that possibly 100 more also fled their homes.

Some stores in Findlay reported having water six to seven feet high on their ground floors. The heart of the business section, however, escaped the flood.

The Blanchard was receding at the rate of about half a foot an hour and at 10 a.m. today was down 2 to 3 feet from the peak. City officials said they anticipate a lifting of the state of emergency this afternoon.

Findlay is among three communities and one county in northwest Ohio which declared emergencies. The others are the city of Van Wert and the village of Ottawa, and Putnam County, in which Ottawa is situated.

In Van Wert, flood waters which covered an estimated one-fourth of the city of 12,000 receded overnight but left an important part of the business district paralyzed. Town Creek was back in its banks at 10 a.m.

The Van Wert Daily Times-Bulletin, unable to publish Tuesday will not publish today or Thursday, according to publisher Ford G. Owens. He said the newspaper lost $6,000 worth of newsprint and that the press room still had 4 to 5 feet of yater in it at 10 a.m.

Only U. S. 127 was repored closed north of Van Wert. U. S. 30, an important east-west artery, is open through the city.

In Ottawa, an estimated 5 per cent of that village of 2,500 was under water. Some 25 to 30 families had been evacuated by Tuesday night. The Blanchard River was expected to crest there this morning. All traffic into and out of Ottawa, with the exception of food supply trucks, reportedly has been halted.

At Warren, in northeast Ohio, some 200 persons were evacuated from the same area hit by the January flood of the Mahoning River.

Throughout northern Ohio, many rural and city schools were closed. A large number of highways were made impassible by high water.

A drowning was reported near Tiffin. Kenneth Wolcott, 21, a Heidelberg College senior from Tallmadge, was missing and presumed drowned after his canoe capsized in the Sandusky River.

In Findlay, another death was attributed indirectly to the flood. G. Clyde Wolfe, 70, suffered a fatal heart attack while trying to bail out his basement.

AAUW To Compile Scholarship List

The American Assn. of University Women here are compiling a list of all scholarships and aids offered by local business firms, churches and organizations which are made available to graduating high school seniors in this area.

After completion of this list, copies will be sent to all area high schools in order that students may become aware of existing opportunities.

The AAUW requested the assistance and cooperation of all local groups in compiling this list. Organizations sponsoring scholarships are asked to contact Mrs Maynard Slack. Her phone number is GR 4-3893.

Driver Sentenced For Intoxication

Two traffic cases handled in Circleville Municipal Court today included a motorist cited for driving under the influence of intoxicants and one for exceeding the speed limit.

The intoxication count was against Jesse W. Hale Jr., 42, who listed his address as 452 N. Court St. The court imposed the usual penalty of $100 and costs, three days in jail and six months suspension of driver's license. The sheriff's department made the arrest.

Charles Ruckman, 34, Columbus, forfeited a $21.50 bond for speeding at 75 miles per hour. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

County Loses 2nd Oldest Resident, Mrs. W. B. Renick

With the passing of Mrs. William B. Renick at 3 a. m. yesterday, Pickaway County lost one of its oldest and grand old ladies of the 19th Century.

Mrs. Renick celebrated her 99th birthday on January 4 in the home of her only daughter, Mrs. Carson L. Horton, Route 3, with whom she had resided for the past seven years.

In her nearly century of life, Mrs. Renick could vividly remember visiting the coffin of Abraham Lincoln as he lay in state in the Ohio capital building, Columbus, in 1865 on his way to burial in Illinois.

Mrs. Renick used to reminisce how her father hitched up two horses to their carriage and took Mrs. Renick and two brothers on the all-day trip to Columbus to see Lincoln.

• • •

MRS. RENICK was one of 11 children born to Alexander and Minerva Reber Bell in a huge white house located on Belle Siding Road, north of here.

Upon her marriage to William Renick, she moved with her husband to the present home of Mr. and Mrs. John Moss on the Phil E. Smith farm, north of South Bloomfield on U. S. Route 23.

This home was built by Renick's grandfather upon his arrival here from Virginia. All the Renicks following were born in that house, including Mrs. Horton and her only brother, who died at the age of three.

Mrs. Renick's husband died in 1913 and she moved to the present offices of Drs. Jasper M. Hedges and F. W. Anderson, at 118 N. Scioto St.

Mrs. Renick loved to travel, covering the entire United States and Mexico—much of the area in her 90's. She had amazing vitality, never spending a day of her life confined to a bed.

She was up in a wheel chair the day before her death. During her life, Mrs. Renick did oil painting and wood carving as hobbies, arts taught young ladies in her day.

• • •

SHE WAS THE oldest living member of the Presbyterian Church at 99 years and one of the oldest persons in central Ohio. Agelessness runs in the Bell family, as she has two surviving sisters, both in their 90's.

They are Mrs. Rachel Weigand, 118 Watt St., and Mrs. Metta Hinkle, Marion, Ind. It is appropriate that Mrs. Renick lie in state with Mrs. Anne Wright Brown at Defenbaugh Funeral Home, for both ladies were long time friends and died within 12 hours of each other.

Active pallbearers will be James I. Smith III, Harry Heffner, David Harman, Wallace Pearson, Kelly Owens and Ralph Dunkle.

Honorary pallbearers will be Paul Adkins, Leland E. Pontius, Reber Bell, Phil E. Smith, George Foresman and Adrian Yates. The funeral will be at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in the funeral home, with the Rev. Donald Mitchell officiating.

Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p. m. today.

Mamie Enroute To Beauty Spa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower journeyed toward an Arizona vacation today after a send-off from the whole Eisenhower family.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore, left Tuesday night aboard a Southern Railroad private Pullman for a visit to a health and beauty resort near Phoenix.

A short time before Mrs. Eisenhower left, the White House said the President may fly to Augusta, Ga., for a weekend of golf immediately following his talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos at Acapulco, Mexico, next week.

Mardi Gras Ends In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—With another Mardi Gras part of history, New Orleans put away its carnival atmosphere until next year. Today was one of solemnity as many in the city began observing the 40-day Lenten season.

The Mardi Gras season, which began officially 12 nights after Christmas and reached its climax Tuesday with an all-day celebration, ended officially at midnight.

Ashville Retires Bonds

The Ashville village council has recalled all outstanding council bonds against the village, it was announced Monday by council clerk, Orville Ruh.

The recall became effective upon the joint agreement of the Ashville council and members of the village Board of Public Affairs through the courtesy of the Citizens Bank of Ashville, holder of the bonds.

The bonds were issued July 1, 1948 to help finance the water softener improvement to the Ashville Water Works.

Village officials acted upon the advice of Ruh who stated that the village sinking fund had a sufficient balance to absorb the bonds' recall.

* * *

THE SINKING FUND balance is also sufficient to retire the amount of general obligation bonds outstanding as they become due.

Ruh said that all previous council bonds and interest were retired from the Water Works revenue fund. The Water Works Board had waived payment of all hydrant rentals until the amount of general obligation bonds was consumed.

"This action gives the village a financial boost and eliminates the obstacle of further issuance of council bonds to make the necessary improvements in the village," Ruh concluded.

Couple Married Here

Mack Betts, 72, and Ima McCoy, 51, were married in Circleville Municipal Court today. Both are from Williamsport.

The vows were read by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

than nine feet above flood stage, about a foot higher than the January mark. Approximately one-fourth of the city was covered with water. Civil defense officials said about 200 persons are known to have evacuated, and that possibly 100 more also fled their homes.

Some stores in Findlay reported having water six to seven feet high on their ground floors. The heart of the business section, however, escaped the flood.

The Blanchard was receding at the rate of about half a foot an hour and at 10 a.m. today was down 2 to 3 feet from the peak. City officials said they anticipate a lifting of the state of emergency this afternoon.

Findlay is among three communities and one county in northwest Ohio which declared emergencies. The others are the city of Van Wert and the village of Ottawa, and Putnam County, in which Ottawa is situated.

In Van Wert, flood waters which covered an estimated one-fourth of the city of 12,000 receded overnight but left an important part of the business district paralyzed. Town Creek was back in its banks at 10 a.m.

The Van Wert Daily Times-Bulletin, unable to publish Tuesday will not publish today or Thursday, according to publisher Ford G. Owens. He said the newspaper lost $6,000 worth of newsprint and that the press room still had 4 to 5 feet of yater in it at 10 a.m.

Only U. S. 127 was repored closed north of Van Wert. U. S. 30, an important east-west artery, is open through the city.

In Ottawa, an estimated 5 per cent of that village of 2,500 was under water. Some 25 to 30 families had been evacuated by Tuesday night. The Blanchard River was expected to crest there this morning. All traffic into and out of Ottawa, with the exception of food supply trucks, reportedly has been halted.

At Warren, in northeast Ohio, some 200 persons were evacuated from the same area hit by the January flood of the Mahoning River.

Throughout northern Ohio, many rural and city schools were closed. A large number of highways were made impassible by high water.

A drowning was reported near Tiffin. Kenneth Wolcott, 21, a Heidelberg College senior from Tallmadge, was missing and presumed drowned after his canoe capsized in the Sandusky River.

In Findlay, another death was attributed indirectly to the flood. G. Clyde Wolfe, 70, suffered a fatal heart attack while trying to bail out his basement.

AAUW To Compile Scholarship List

Driver Sentenced For Intoxication

Two traffic cases handled in Circleville Municipal Court today included a motorist cited for driving under the influence of intoxicants and one for exceeding the speed limit.

The intoxication count was against Jesse W. Hale Jr., 42, who listed his address as 452 N. Court St. The court imposed the usual penalty of $100 and costs, three days in jail and six months suspension of driver's license. The sheriff's department made the arrest.

Charles Ruckman, 34, Columbus, forfeited a $21.50 bond for speeding at 75 miles per hour. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

County Loses 2nd Oldest Resident, Mrs. W. B. Renick

With the passing of Mrs. William B. Renick at 3 a. m. yesterday, Pickaway County lost one of its oldest and grand old ladies of the 19th Century.

Mrs. Renick celebrated her 99th birthday on January 4 in the home of her only daughter, Mrs. Carson L. Horton, Route 3, with whom she had resided for the past seven years.

In her nearly century of life, Mrs. Renick could vividly remember visiting the coffin of Abraham Lincoln as he lay in state in the Ohio capital building, Columbus, in 1865 on his way to burial in Illinois.

Mrs. Renick used to reminisce how her father hitched up two horses to their carriage and took Mrs. Renick and two brothers on the all-day trip to Columbus to see Lincoln.

* * *

MRS. RENICK was one of 11 children born to Alexander and Minerva Reber Bell in a huge white house located on Belle Siding Road, north of here.

Upon her marriage to William Renick, she moved with her husband to the present home of Mr. and Mrs. John Moss on the Phil E. Smith farm, north of South Bloomfield on U. S. Route 23.

This home was built by Renick's grandfather upon his arrival here from Virginia. All the Renicks following were born in that house, including Mrs. Horton and her only brother, who died at the age of three.

Mrs. Renick's husband died in 1913 and she moved to the present offices of Drs. Jasper M. Hedges and F. W. Anderson, at 118 N. Scioto St.

Mrs. Renick loved to travel, covering the entire United States and Mexico—much of the area in her 90's. She had amazing vitality, never spending a day of her life confined to a bed.

She was up in a wheel chair the day before her death. During her life, Mrs. Renick did oil painting and wood carving as hobbies, arts taught young ladies in her day.

* * *

SHE WAS THE oldest living member of the Presbyterian Church at 99 years and one of the oldest persons in central Ohio. Agelessness runs in the Bell family, as she has two surviving sisters, both in their 90's.

They are Mrs. Rachel Weigand, 118 Watt St., and Mrs. Metta Hinkle, Marion, Ind. It is appropriate that Mrs. Renick lie in state with Mrs. Anne Wright Brown at Defenbaugh Funeral Home, for both ladies were long time friends and died within 12 hours of each other.

Active pallbearers will be James I. Smith III, Harry Heffner, David Harman, Wallace Pearson, Kelly Owens and Ralph Dunkle.

Honorary pallbearers will be Paul Adkins, Leland E. Pontius, Reber Bell, Phil E. Smith, George Foresman and Adrian Yates. The funeral will be at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in the funeral home, with the Rev. Donald Mitchell officiating.

Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p. m. today.

Mamie Enroute To Beauty Spa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower journeyed toward an Arizona vacation today after a send-off from the whole Eisenhower family.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore, left Tuesday night aboard a Southern Railroad private Pullman for a visit to a health and beauty resort near Phoenix.

A short time before Mrs. Eisenhower left, the White House said the President may fly to Augusta, Ga., for a weekend of golf immediately following his talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos at Acapulco, Mexico, next week.

New Element Seen as Idle Total Climbs

Weather Not to Blame As Employment Fails To Keep Recovery Pace

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Unemployment is on the rise again. Weather is usually blamed for this in January and February. This time the business situation itself is playing a role.

There's a new element: The failure of employment to hit as fast a recovery pace as those of industry output and sales.

To some extent this is traditional. First increases in production are usually met by restoring full work weeks for those who had been on shorter work schedules.

Usually, as in this case, employers have used the period of recession to cut out overhead fat and operational frills, and to build up efficiency.

But the lag this time is more pronounced than in the two previous postwar recoveries.

That's because this time there's another factor: increased productivity.

This means that the big business spending boom of recent years for better plants and more efficient and all but automated equipment is now paying off. Industry currently is able to turn out more goods per man hour of labor than it did before its spending and building boom. So it can increase output without adding much to payrolls.

Still another factor is that the total labor force is beginning to grow faster now than a few years back.

What to do about the new situation brings many suggestions:

Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, thinks the government should help. Specifically he proposes increased consumer buying power (in large part from higher wages, including the minimum wage congress sets) and federal aid to areas where unemployment is a problem.

Dr. Ralph Robey, economic adviser to the National Assn. of Manufacturers, contends that business will get right back into the recession soup again if the increase in productivity leads to exceptional wage increases.

The staff of the Federal Reserve board takes an in-between stance. It notes that modernization spending has increased productivity, thus cutting out some jobs. It also notes that increasing labor costs, including all the fringe benefits, makes management cautious about hiring new workmen until new orders make it imperative.

But the unemployment problem isn't nationwide. Joblessness has concentrated largely in the durable goods industries. That is where rehiring has been more sluggish this time than in the earlier slumps.

In most other segments of the economy the employment picture is much brighter.

Scientist Trying To Wean Bedbugs Away from Humans

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A University of California scientist is weaning bedbugs away from human beings.

He has trained some of the insects to choose rabbits as hosts even when they have the alternative of feeding on the scientist's own blood.

The unusual research project was undertaken in the hope that it would answer a question important in genetics—can an insect parasite's taste be so changed that its descendants will inherit this new preference?

It will take several generations of these college-educated bedbugs to give the answer. If the final result is affirmative, it may mean science may be able to control some insect pests by altering their tastes.

The research is being done by Prof. Robert L. Usinger, an entomologist in the college of agriculture.

Usinger divided his subjects into two groups. One group was allowed to feed only on rabbits or some other nonhuman organism. The other group was treated to a diet of the professor's blood.

Next he let both groups get good and hungry. Then he rigged up a gadget which allows a bug to choose between man and rabbit.

This contrivance was a T-shaped tube, open at all ends. A bug turned loose at the bottom of the T would crawl up the inside of the tube until it came to the crossing. At one end of the cross tube was Prof. Usinger's bare arm. At the other end was a rabbit.

When the bug reached the cross he picked up the scent of both rabbit and professor. He could then follow his choice.

In test after test, Usinger says, the rabbit-conditioned bugs turn to their newly adopted host. But the choice isn't always unanimous. What the future descendants of these bugs will do in such a test is yet to be determined.

Tall Tale

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — Probably the biggest shoe that ever strode around these parts belonged to Col. Ruth Goshen, the "Middlebush Giant."

Col. Goshen was a side-show attraction at the turn of the century and retired to Franklin Township nearby. The shoe is size 18. The "giant" more than eight feet tall, weighed 400 pounds, and a New Jersey historian says he was buried in the largest grave ever dug in the state.

Gal Disc Jockey On No-Sleep Jag

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Jo Warner, a shapely blonde disc jockey, says "I'm thinking of joining a male choir and singing bass when I'm done with this."

Jo, 22, is heading into the eighth day of a no-sleep stint at the microphone. She hopes to last until noon Friday, when she'll have racked up a record 240 hours of non-stop broadcasting.

"I feel great now," she said Monday night, after rounding out 154 hours. "I was losing my voice. It's back now, but it's gone down about an octave."

Jo is doing her stint for the March of Dimes. She works for KYTE, a station that is on the air 12 hours daily.

New Element Seen as Idle Total Climbs

Weather Not to Blame As Employment Fails To Keep Recovery Pace

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Unemployment is on the rise again. Weather is usually blamed for this in January and February. This time the business situation itself is playing a role.

There's a new element: The failure of employment to hit as fast a recovery pace as those of industry output and sales.

To some extent this is traditional. First increases in production are usually met by restoring full work weeks for those who had been on shorter work schedules.

Usually, as in this case, employers have used the period of recession to cut out overhead fat and operational frills, and to build up efficiency.

But the lag this time is more pronounced than in the two previous postwar recoveries.

That's because this time there's another factor: increased productivity.

This means that the big business spending boom of recent years for better plants and more efficient and all but automated equipment is now paying off. Industry currently is able to turn out more goods per man hour of labor than it did before its spending and building boom. So it can increase output without adding much to payrolls.

Still another factor is that the total labor force is beginning to grow faster now than a few years back.

What to do about the new situation brings many suggestions:

Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, thinks the government should help. Specifically he proposes increased consumer buying power (in large part from higher wages, including the minimum wage congress sets) and federal aid to areas where unemployment is a problem.

Dr. Ralph Robey, economic adviser to the National Assn. of Manufacturers, contends that business will get right back into the recession soup again if the increase in productivity leads to exceptional wage increases.

The staff of the Federal Reserve board takes an in-between stance. It notes that modernization spending has increased productivity, thus cutting out some jobs. It also notes that increasing labor costs, including all the fringe benefits, makes management cautious about hiring new workmen until new orders make it imperative.

But the unemployment problem isn't nationwide. Joblessness has concentrated largely in the durable goods industries. That is where rehiring has been more sluggish this time than in the earlier slumps.

In most other segments of the economy the employment picture is much brighter.

Scientist Trying To Wean Bedbugs Away from Humans

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A University of California scientist is weaning bedbugs away from human beings.

He has trained some of the insects to choose rabbits as hosts even when they have the alternative of feeding on the scientist's own blood.

The unusual research project was undertaken in the hope that it would answer a question important in genetics—can an insect parasite's taste be so changed that its descendants will inherit this new preference?

It will take several generations of these college-educated bedbugs to give the answer. If the final result is affirmative, it may mean science may be able to control some insect pests by altering their tastes.

The research is being done by Prof. Robert L. Usinger, an entomologist in the college of agriculture.

Usinger divided his subjects into two groups. One group was allowed to feed only on rabbits or some other nonhuman organism. The other group was treated to a diet of the professor's blood.

Next he let both groups get good and hungry. Then he rigged up a gadget which allows a bug to choose between man and rabbit.

This contrivance was a T-shaped tube, open at all ends. A bug turned loose at the bottom of the T would crawl up the inside of the tube until it came to the crossing. At one end of the cross tube was Prof. Usinger's bare arm. At the other end was a rabbit.

When the bug reached the cross he picked up the scent of both rabbit and professor. He could then follow his choice.

In test after test, Usinger says, the rabbit-conditioned bugs turn to their newly adopted host. But the choice isn't always unanimous. What the future descendants of these bugs will do in such a test is yet to be determined.

Tall Tale

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — Probably the biggest shoe that ever strode around these parts belonged to Col. Ruth Goshen, the "Middlebush Giant."

Col. Goshen was a side-show attraction at the turn of the century and retired to Franklin Township nearby. The shoe is size 18. The "giant" more than eight feet tall, weighed 400 pounds, and a New Jersey historian says he was buried in the largest grave ever dug in the state.

Gal Disc Jockey On No-Sleep Jag

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Jo Warner, a shapely blonde disc jockey, says "I'm thinking of joining a male choir and singing bass when I'm done with this."

Jo, 22, is heading into the eighth day of a no-sleep stint at the microphone. She hopes to last until noon Friday, when she'll have racked up a record 240 hours of non-stop broadcasting.

"I feel great now," she said Monday night, after rounding out 154 hours. "I was losing my voice. It's back now, but it's gone down about an octave."

Jo is doing her stint for the March of Dimes. She works for KYTE, a station that is on the air 12 hours daily.

Public Should Know Public Records

It should not have been necessary for New Jersey State Education Commissioner Frederick M. Raubinger to "rule" that newspapers have the right to inspect and copy public records of teachers' salaries.

Rule he did, however, as a result of which it should now be clear to the South Plainfield Board of Education that taxpayers there are entitled to know what their elected and otherwise designated public officials are doing with their money.

The fatuous argument of the school board that newspapers have the right to look at public records, but not to copy them, seems to mean that newspapers have no right to convey complete and accurate information regarding public affairs to their readers.

Equally fatuous was its position that in making its records available to newspapers, and through them to the public, it was in fact helping the newspapers to gather news.

The South Plainfield board would have been more profitably engaged in the latter activity than in the pursuit of methods of keeping from the public legitimate and and reasonable information concerning its own business.

Dr. Raubinger has wisely reminded the board that its function is not only to transact public business, but also to keep the public informed of its transactions, through the best medium the people have for keeping informed.

Millionaire Shuns Poor Girl

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Why don't more millionaires marry poor but honest working girls?

If you go into a drugstore in any business office area in America during a coffee break, you'll find ha'f a dozen AWOL secretaries and stenographers debating.

"Why can't I find a tall, dark, handsome millionaire who will marry me and take me out of this world of work and worry?" is the topic.

Every time one of these female desk jockeys snags her nylon hose, or the boss bawls her out because her typewriter can't spell, she asks herself, "Why can't I find me a nice tall, dark, handsome millionaire?"

She never asks for a tall, dark handsome plumber or bus driver. She won't even settle for a short blonde, balding, pot-bellied millionaire.

While this wish can be dismissed as a hopeless dream in most cases, it isn't altogether an idle dream with many office girls. They scrimp and save to go on expensive cruises or to take vacation trips to Mexico or the Bahamas—places where they fondly imagine every palm and pine tree shades a love-hungry millionaire.

And whom do they meet? Vacationing plumbers and bus drivers most of whom, alas, have brought their wives. And the girls come home bitter—and one year nearer to being old maids.

Not long ago I met a young, tall, dark, handsome millionaire bachelor. I asked him why he didn't marry some poor but honest working girl — a girl desperately eager to make him happy.

"I'd be crazy, too," he replied crisply. "The poor but honest working girl you describe is suffering from a Cinderella psychosis. She isn't looking for a husband. She's looking for a helping hand.

"She doesn't have a romantic urge. She just has an urge to acquire some valuable male real estate without even putting up a real down payment. She wants something for nothing."

"But wouldn't a girl like that make a good thrifty wife?" I asked.

The man gave a hollow laugh.

"Why, a girl like that would have me broke in two years," he said. "She'd expect an apartment on Park Ave., a winter home at Palm Beach, and a summer place on Long Island.

"She'd want diamonds, furs, servants, and a new Rolls-Royce every year. She'd expect a trip to Europe every year, too.

"Working girls have big ideas about how millionaires live, but their ideas are a generation behind the times. A millionaire doesn't live that way anymore — at least guys with only one million, like me. We don't have that kind of dough."

Well, if you are a poor but honest working girl, there is the true reason you can't find a tall, dark, handsome millionaire to marry you.

He'd like to — but he simply can't afford to. You are too expensive for his pocketbook.

The Crisis of Our Age

By George Sokolsky

When Pope John XXIII announced the calling of an Ecumenical Council, a world-wide council of Christendom, it betokened a crisis in the affairs of man. Granted that Christianity faces an enormous loss of adherents in the countries which have been forced to accept Marxian atheism; granted that churches and monasteries, synagogues and yeshivas have been destroyed; granted that even in Christian countries humanism is replacing Godism (to coin a poor phrase), even in some churches—is all this the reason for calling such a council?

The crisis of our era is moral. Even in the countries which are not dominated by Marxism, social and economic conditions prevail which are destructive of morality. The word, the promise, the signature — whatever it is by which men enter upon contractual relations—no longer seems to have any meaning. Therefore the marriage sacrament has become a matter of a fee paid for a license with a mumbo-jumbo of spoken words to be followed by divorces, separations and annulments so numerous that they become a serious social problem to the entire community because of the increase in juvenile delinquency and young criminals.

Even in international relations, treaties have lost their precise meaning and what used to be called international law, a body of documentation guiding the conduct and morality of nations, has ceased to exist altogether. Instead, everything is done by swift improvisation and august signatures on treaties are not marks of conviction but counterfeits. So, in politics, the word is not the bond and statesmen do not abide by their promises nor do they follow their consciences but rather go their way in the hope that everything will be forgotten tomorrow that was said today.

In the nineteenth century and the first decade of the 20th century, the world was moving toward peace and it was hoped that a tribunal would be created to which nations could come with their grievances and that in such a tribunal the grievances would be resolved justly and without war. Nevertheless, thus far, the 20th century has been one of the bloodiest in human history. It is the first century during which genocide has been practiced and continues to be practiced on the widest scale. The cultures of peoples are being wiped out, even among the formerly civilized peoples in Europe.

There was some protest when Hitler initiated this process of remaking man from a being close to the angels to a creature of the devil, but today when Soviet Russia destroys millions of human beings spiritually as well as physically, there is not only small protest but little excitement. The world has become accustomed to brutality which now hardly makes headlines in newspapers.

The crisis of our age, to use Professor Sorokin's phrase, is not only in the separatism among Christian churches, which has tended to stimulate among some people a questioning of all dogma, but in the demoralization of all peoples of all religions and among those who have no religion. A clariin call must be issued to mankind to remind it that God's law will prevail and that those who break it do so at the peril of the entire human race. The success of Soviet Russia thus far has been a response to the challenge of a religious zeal for the cause of Marxism, a zeal which no longer appears in our civilization for anything.

The immorality of our times is most clearly articulated not in the over-emphasis on sex, or in the general tendency of small sects of intellectuals to pervert the truth to suit their theories, but in the disregard of brutality, of deceit, of falsehood. The passion for protest has disappeared even in those countries that call themselves democratic. Citizens conform to every abuse and indecency not because they believe that conforming is correct, like wearing a black tie to a formal dinner, but rather because it is a way to stand in right with the powers that be and maybe by such means to get slightly ahead.

There is much to do to straighten out this human race during this crisis. Pope John's council may be the means; there may have to be several councils, called under the guidance of God's law, to bring us back to a life that will not move from brutality to excess and from excess to brutality, but will cleave to eternal and tested truth.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Now, what seems to be the trouble?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A CERTAIN DIPLOMAT was asked to explain the seeming servility of his government whenever the boys in the Kremlin showed an inclination to crack down.

"Think back," suggested the diplomat "to the time when Napoleon escaped from Elba. Headlines in the Paris press proclaimed, 'Monster Breaks Loose.' When he landed in southern France the same papers announced, 'The Usurper Is Headed Here.' The day before he entered Paris, their story ran 'Marshal at Gates of City,' and when he actually arrived, the headlines heralded, 'Long Live Our Emperor-King!' Do I make myself clear, sir?"

Peter DeVries' novel, "Mackerel Plaza," received huzzahs from the critics, but one of them voiced an objection. "DeVries' sense of humor," he noted, "deserted him when he named his hero. What's so funny about the name Mackerel?" The name of the critic who raised this point, incidentally, is Pickerel.

Alcohol Affects Vision

I have written a lot about alcohol and a lot about vision problems. Now I would like to combine these two subjects into a single article.

All of you, I am sure, realize that you should not drink and then drive. Alcohol slows your reactions, it numbs your senses.

It also hampers your vision.

Despite the popular belief, a few cocktails will not make the world look rosy to the drinker. In fact, alcohol is much more likely to give it a grayish coat, according to the Better Vision Institute.

The Institute, which has made a study of such things, reports that a few drinks of liquor create the same effect as placing a gray glass in front of your eyes.

This means that you need stronger light to clearly distinguish objects after you have been drinking. And if these objects are only dimly lit, you may not even see many of them at all.

Your ability to differentiate between tones is likely to deteriorate, too.

These troubles, of course, are only temporary. But even temporary visual problems can be disastrous to a motorist.

As a group, bus drivers probably ar.. among the best drivers in the nation.

Yet tests applied to a group of experienced bus drivers showed that, after a couple of drinks, some of them were ready to try to drive through a gap which was 14 inches narrower than their buses.

It was not that the alcohol made them more willing to take risks; it was that its depressant effect on the central nervous system made them fail to see the danger involved.

The conclusion of this study is that a man's judgment of his own driving ability is impaired when the alcohol concentration in his blood is less than 0.5 milligram per milliliter.

Now that is not very much alcohol. When you are driving, however, it is too much, far too much.

Question and Answer

M.N.: My husband takes about 100 aspirins a week. Also, he drinks liquor frequently.

What effect will this have on his health?

Answer: Excessive indulgence in both alcohol and aspirin is not conducive to good health.

Virginia Continues Integration in Schools

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Nine Negro children entered three previously all-white public schools in this historic Southern city without incident today.

They were admitted under court order, and backed by a display of police force but there was nothing to indicate any need for the guard.

Alexandria thus became the third Virginia community to accept integration since the collapse of the state's "massive resistance" program and the failure of last-ditch court efforts to obtain delay.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — You think you're confused? Wait till you read this.

President Eisenhower has protested repeatedly against what he calls the spenders and demands that Congress stay within the 77-billion-dollar budget he sent up in January.

Just as a starter on how things can get mixed up: Congress can ignore his requests for economy and vote for more money than he asked. On the other hand, in some cases he doesn't have to spend it even if Congress votes it.

And some of what's voted this year may be meant for spending a couple of years from now. There's a big difference between appropriations and expenditures.

The Eisenhower barbs about spenders apparently nettled Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats. This week he said that over the past six years Congress appropriated 22 billion dollars less than Eisenhower's budget asked.

Whereupon Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, leader of the Senate Republicans, announced the Eisenhower administration was getting together the full story, including "everything relating to the budget," and that he'd produce it.

It's a good guess that when the two leaders and all the other Democrats and Republicans get through arguing about the figures, not only the general public but perhaps most members of Congress will be more bemused than before.

One expert on government finances told this writer: "When it comes to voting on money problems, Congress is a place where the left hand knoweth not what the right is doing."

He didn't mean anyone was slipping a fast one over on anyone. He just meant things get mixed up.

The House and Senate Appropriations committees were created to examine money requests from the executive branch of the government and decide what's needed. But those committees are not the only ones passing on money problems.

Eisenhower's budget, for instance, contains all kinds of requests for money in one form or another. The whole budget is not solely the Appropriations committees' baby. Some parts of it go to other committees.

Who gets what depends on the nature of what is asked.

Say the Senate Banking Committee comes up with a housing program that requires government backing. There are various kinds of housing in the program: one may deal with college housing, another with slum clearance.

Because one program requires a certain kind of action and money, the Senate Banking Committee handles it. But another, requiring different handling and financing, will go from the Banking Committee to the Appropriations Committee.

Then there's this case: the Appropriations Committee will approve a certain budget expenditure which is really an authorization to the Eisenhower administration to draw a check on the Treasury and spend the money this year.

Then the same committee may approve authorization for the government to obligate itself to spend money in a future year, but not this one or the next. For example: authority to make a contract to build a missile which won't be ready till 1962.

And the money Eisenhower requested in the budget he sent Congress in January is not the only money Congress will vote this year. Last June, for instance, Congress may have voted money to carry a government agency through till next June.

But now the same agency comes back, saying what it got was not enough, and it needs more to pay its expenses till June.

This is called a request for a supplemental appropriation. That means supplemental to what Congress voted last year for this year and not supplemental to what Congress votes this year for next.

Public Should Know Public Records

It should not have been necessary for New Jersey State Education Commissioner Frederick M. Raubinger to "rule" that newspapers have the right to inspect and copy public records of teachers' salaries.

Rule he did, however, as a result of which it should now be clear to the South Plainfield Board of Education that taxpayers there are entitled to know what their elected and otherwise designated public officials are doing with their money.

The fatuous argument of the school board that newspapers have the right to look at public records, but not to copy them, seems to mean that newspapers have no right to convey complete and accurate information regarding public affairs to their readers.

Equally fatuous was its position that in making its records available to newspapers, and through them to the public, it was in fact helping the newspapers to gather news.

The South Plainfield board would have been more profitably engaged in the latter activity than in the pursuit of methods of keeping from the public legitimate and and reasonable information concerning its own business.

Dr. Raubinger has wisely reminded the board that its function is not only to transact public business, but also to keep the public informed of its transactions, through the best medium the people have for keeping informed.

Millionaire Shuns Poor Girl

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Why don't more millionaires marry poor but honest working girls?

If you go into a drugstore in any business office area in America during a coffee break, you'll find half a dozen AWOL secretaries and stenographers debating.

"Why can't I find a tall, dark, handsome millionaire who will marry me and take me out of this world of work and worry?" is the topic.

Every time one of these female desk jockeys snags her nylon hose, or the boss bawls her out because her typewriter can't spell, she asks herself, "Why can't I find me a nice tall, dark, handsome millionaire?"

She never asks for a tall, dark handsome plumber or bus driver. She won't even settle for a short blonde, balding, pot-bellied millionaire.

While this wish can be dismissed as a hopeless dream in most cases, it isn't altogether an idle dream with many office girls. They scrimp and save to go on expensive cruises or to take vacation trips to Mexico or the Bahamas—places where they fondly imagine every palm and pine tree shades a love-hungry millionaire.

And whom do they meet? Vacationing plumbers and bus drivers most of whom, alas, have brought their wives. And the girls come home bitter—and one year nearer to being old maids.

Not long ago I met a young, tall, dark, handsome millionaire bachelor. I asked him why he didn't marry some poor but honest working girl — a girl desperately eager to make him happy.

"I'd be crazy, too," he replied crisply. "The poor but honest working girl you describe is suffering from a Cinderella psychosis. She isn't looking for a husband. She's looking for a helping hand.

"She doesn't have a romantic urge. She just has an urge to acquire some valuable male real estate without even putting up a real down payment. She wants something for nothing."

"But wouldn't a girl like that make a good thrifty wife?" I asked.

The man gave a hollow laugh. "Why, a girl like that would have me broke in two years," he said. "She'd expect an apartment on Park Ave., a winter home at Palm Beach, and a summer place on Long Island.

"She'd want diamonds, furs, servants, and a new Rolls-Royce every year. She'd expect a trip to Europe every year, too.

"Working girls have big ideas about how millionaires live, but their ideas are a generation behind the times. A millionaire doesn't live that way anymore — at least guys with only one million, like me. We don't have that kind of dough."

Well, if you are a poor but honest working girl, there is the true reason you can't find a tall, dark, handsome millionaire to marry you.

He'd like to — but he simply can't afford to. You are too expensive for his pocketbook.

The Crisis of Our Age

By George Sokolsky

When Pope John XXIII announced the calling of an Ecumenical Council, a world-wide council of Christendom, it betokened a crisis in the affairs of man. Granted that Christianity faces an enormous loss of adherents in the countries which have been forced to accept Marxian atheism; granted that churches and monasteries, synagogues and yeshivas have been destroyed; granted that even in Christian countries humanism is replacing Godism (to coin a poor phrase), even in some churches—is all this the reason for calling such a council?

The crisis of our era is moral. Even in the countries which are not dominated by Marxism, social and economic conditions prevail which are destructive of morality. The word, the promise, the signature — whatever it is by which men enter upon contractual relations—no longer seems to have any meaning. Therefore the marriage sacrament has become a matter of a fee paid for a license with a mumbo-jumbo of spoken words to be followed by divorces, separations and annulments so numerous that they become a serious social problem to the entire community because of the increase in juvenile delinquency and young criminals.

Even in international relations, treaties have lost their precise meaning and what used to be called international law, a body of documentation guiding the conduct and morality of nations, has ceased to exist altogether. Instead, everything is done by swift improvisation and august signatures on treaties are not marks of conviction but counterfeits. So, in politics, the word is not the bond and statesmen do not abide by their promises nor do they follow their consciences but rather go their way in the hope that everything will be forgotten tomorrow that was said today.

In the nineteenth century and the first decade of the 20th century, the world was moving toward peace and it was hoped that a tribunal would be created to which nations could come with their grievances and that in such a tribunal the grievances would be resolved justly and without war. Nevertheless, thus far, the 20th century has been one of the bloodiest in human history. It is the first century during which genocide has been practiced and continues to be practiced on the widest scale. The cultures of peoples are being wiped out, even among the formerly civilized peoples in Europe.

There was some protest when Hitler initiated this process of remaking man from a being close to the angels to a creature of the devil, but today when Soviet Russia destroys millions of human beings spiritually as well as physically, there is not only small protest but little excitement. The world has become accustomed to brutality which now hardly makes headlines in newspapers.

The crisis of our age, to use Professor Sorokin's phrase, is not only in the separatism among Christian churches, which has tended to stimulate among some people a questioning of all dogma, but in the demoralization of all peoples of all religions and among those who have no religion. A clarion call must be issued to mankind to remind it that God's law will prevail and that those who break it do so at the peril of the entire human race. The success of Soviet Russia thus far has been a response to the challenge of a religious zeal for the cause of Marxism, a zeal which no longer appears in our civilization for anything.

The immorality of our times is most clearly articulated not in the over-emphasis on sex, or in the general tendency of small sects of intellectuals to pervert the truth to suit their theories, but in the disregard of brutality, of deceit, of falsehood. The passion for protest has disappeared even in those countries that call themselves democratic. Citizens conform to every abuse and indecency not because they believe that conforming is correct, like wearing a black tie to a formal dinner, but rather because it is a way to stand in right with the powers that be and maybe by such means to get slightly ahead.

There is much to do to straighten out this human race during this crisis. Pope John's council may be the means; there may have to be several councils, called under the guidance of God's law, to bring us back to a life that will not move from brutality to excess and from excess to brutality, but will cleave to eternal and tested truth.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Now, what seems to be the trouble?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A CERTAIN DIPLOMAT was asked to explain the seeming servility of his government whenever the boys in the Kremlin showed an inclination to crack down.

"Think back," suggested the diplomat "to the time when Napoleon escaped from Elba. Headlines in the Paris press proclaimed, 'Monster Breaks Loose.' When he landed in southern France the same papers announced, 'The Usurper Is Headed Here.' The day before he entered Paris, their story ran 'Marshal at Gates of City,' and when he actually arrived, the headlines heralded, 'Long Live Our Emperor-King!' Do I make myself clear, sir?"

Peter DeVries' novel, "Mackerel Plaza," received huzzahs from the critics, but one of them voiced an objection. "DeVries' sense of humor," he noted, "deserted him when he named his hero. What's so funny about the name Mackerel?" The name of the critic who raised this point, incidentally, is Pickerel.

Alcohol Affects Vision

I have written a lot about alcohol and a lot about vision problems. Now I would like to combine these two subjects into a single article.

All of you, I am sure, realize that you should not drink and then drive. Alcohol slows your reactions, it numbs your senses.

It also hampers your vision.

Despite the popular belief, a few cocktails will not make the world look rosy to the drinker. In fact, alcohol is much more likely to give it a grayish coat, according to the Better Vision Institute.

The Institute, which has made a study of such things, reports that a few drinks of liquor create the same effect as placing a gray glass in front of your eyes.

This means that you need stronger light to clearly distinguish objects after you have been drinking. And if these objects are only dimly lit, you may not even see many of them at all.

Your ability to differentiate between tones is likely to deteriorate, too.

These troubles, of course, are only temporary. But even temporary visual problems can be disastrous to a motorist.

As a group, bus drivers probably ar among the best drivers in the nation.

Yet tests applied to a group of experienced bus drivers showed that, after a couple of drinks, some of them were ready to try to drive through a gap which was 14 inches narrower than their buses.

It was not that the alcohol made them more willing to take risks; it was that its depressant effect on the central nervous system made them fail to see the danger involved.

The conclusion of this study is that a man's judgment of his own driving ability is impaired when the alcohol concentration in his blood is less than 0.5 milligram per milliliter.

Now that is not very much alcohol. When you are driving, however, it is too much, far too much.

Question and Answer

M.N.: My husband takes about 100 aspirins a week. Also, he drinks liquor frequently.

What effect will this have on his health?

Answer: Excessive indulgence in both alcohol and aspirin is not conducive to good health.

Virginia Continues Integration in Schools

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Nine Negro children entered three previously all-white public schools in this historic Southern city without incident today.

They were admitted under court order, and backed by a display of police force but there was nothing to indicate any need for the guard.

Alexandria thus became the third Virginia community to accept integration since the collapse of the state's "massive resistance" program and the failure of last-ditch court efforts to obtain delay.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — You think you're confused? Wait till you read this.

President Eisenhower has protested repeatedly against what he calls the spenders and demands that Congress stay within the 77-billion-dollar budget he sent up in January.

Just as a starter on how things can get mixed up: Congress can ignore his requests for economy and vote for more money than he asked. On the other hand, in some cases he doesn't have to spend it even if Congress votes it.

And some of what's voted this year may be meant for spending a couple of years from now. There's a big difference between appropriations and expenditures.

The Eisenhower barbs about spenders apparently nettled Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats. This week he said that over the past six years Congress appropriated 22 billion dollars less than Eisenhower's budget asked.

Whereupon Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, leader of the Senate Republicans, announced the Eisenhower administration was getting together the full story, including "everything relating to the budget," and that he'd produce it.

It's a good guess that when the two leaders and all the other Democrats and Republicans get through arguing about the figures, not only the general public but perhaps most members of Congress will be more bemused than before.

One expert on government finances told this writer: "When it comes to voting on money problems, Congress is a place where the left hand knoweth not what the right is doing."

He didn't mean anyone was slipping a fast one over on anyone. He just meant things get mixed up.

The House and Senate Appropriations committees were created to examine money requests from the executive branch of the government and decide what's needed. But those committees are not the only ones passing on money problems.

Eisenhower's budget, for instance, contains all kinds of requests for money in one form or another. The whole budget is not solely the Appropriations committees' baby. Some parts of it go to other committees.

Who gets what depends on the nature of what is asked.

Say the Senate Banking Committee comes up with a housing program that requires government backing. There are various kinds of housing in the program: one may deal with college housing, another with slum clearance.

Because one program requires a certain kind of action and money, the Senate Banking Committee handles it. But another, requiring different handling and financing, will go from the Banking Committee to the Appropriations Committee.

Then there's this case: the Appropriations Committee will approve a certain budget expenditure which is really an authorization to the Eisenhower administration to draw a check on the Treasury and spend the money this year.

Then the same committee may approve authorization for the government to obligate itself to spend money in a future year, but not this one or the next. For example: authority to make a contract to build a missile which won't be ready till 1962.

And the money Eisenhower requested in the budget he sent Congress in January is not the only money Congress will vote this year. Last June, for instance, Congress may have voted money to carry a government agency through till next June.

But now the same agency comes back, saying what it got was not enough, and it needs more to pay its expenses till June.

This is called a request for a supplemental appropriation. That means supplemental to what Congress voted last year for this year and not supplemental to what Congress votes this year for next.

Despite Lausche Objections Cities Hope for Airport Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials of Ohio cities hunting for money to modernize their airports—and plenty of them are—will be looking to Washington again if pending legislation goes through.

A bill which passed the Senate last week, over the strong objection of Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), would give Ohio cities some 2½ million dollars annually for the next four years for airports.

There can be no question that municipal officials in Ohio are interested in federal money for their airports. Last year at about this time, they asked for $7,626,000 but were given $2,865,000.

Here is a list of Ohio cities that received at least part of their airport money requests for the current government year (asked figure first, granted figure second):

Akron - Canton ($1,093,000-$511,000); Cincinnati Blue Ash ($225,000-$200,000); Lunken Field, Cincinnati ($97,000-$31,000).

Cleveland Hopkins ($400,000-$400,000); Port Columbus ($2,143,000-$750,000); Dayton (Cox Airport) $1,530,000-$900,00); Mansfield ($92,00-$52,800); Portsmouth ($20,750-$20,750).

Here are the cities that asked for airport money a year ago but received none:

Akron Municipal ($137,500); Cuyahoga County Airport ($999,000); Jefferson ($9,000); Lima ($690,000); Tiffin ($188,000).

In opposing the bill, Lausche objected in particular to the idea of supplying federal money to help the airlines build airport terminals and warehouses.

"That is a private business, and the terminals and warehouses ought to be built by the commercial airlines," he said.

Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) voted for the bill. Vote for passage was 63-22.

New Disaster Plan Is Used by City

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Willoughby Hills put its new disaster control plan into action early today when the Chagrin River began rising sharply from an all-night rain. Several families were evacuated.

Five persons were drowned in last month's flood and the residents of the village—just east of Cleveland—wanted to be ready if more high water came. They drew up the control plan Monday night. A few hours later the plan was in use.

Mayor Martha Tyler was named head of a combined police-fire-civil defense team designed to clear the section of the valley at a moment's notice. The evacuation started at 2 a.m., including several families on the very block where the drownings occurred.

Polo was first played in the United States at Newport, R. I. It was introduced in 1877 by James Gordon Bennett Jr., owner of the New York Tribune.

Honduras Rebellion

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) —The government claimed today that the army was in control of all Honduras after routing a rebel force which seized the key city of Santa Barbara, near the Guatemalan border.

Congress was expected to declare a state of siege—a modified form of martial law—to strengthen the hand of President Ramon Villeda Morales in quelling the revolt.

Wholesale Animal Swap Is Spirited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—To a passerby, it might have sounded a little like a baseball trading session, but if you bid at the right time you might have taken home an elephant or a lion.

The wholesale bartering of animals was the top business at Monday's convention opening of the Midwest Assn. of Zoological Parks and Aquariams.

The transactions by the directors of 32 of the nation's zoos were similar to major league club owners trading baseball players.

For example, three chimpanzees who couldn't learn to ride bicycles and ponies, drive cars or turn cartwheels were traded off by Frank McInnis, director of the Detroit Zoo.

"They were rookies who just didn't make the grade," he mourned.

The backward trio will be shipped to a New York city dealer, who in turn will send McInnis three more chimp prospects for the spring training season at the zoo.

The trading indicated that it takes 24 baboons to trade for one camel, a pair of kangaroos equals a leopard cub and one giraffe is worth five tigers.

And if you'd like to frighten guests with a de-odorized skunk the Columbus Zoo has four on sale for $10 apiece.

The bargaining session began by each zoo director reading a list of his "surplus" animals, and of his needs. After that, the officials gathered in little huddles to do business.

Stillion is from Franklin, Mich., and police said the family wanted money to get back there.

2 Cincy Boys Held In Holdup-Killing

CINCINNATI (AP)—A widow was shot and killed Monday night during a holdup of her drug store. Police say they nabbed two youths a few blocks away.

Mrs. Bernice Wilson, who operated Wilson's Pharmacy, was killed instantly.

Investigators said Charles Bell and Huston Nelson, both 16, admitted the holdup. Nelson admitted shooting the 61-year-old woman, officers said.

Officers quoted a clerk as saying that when the bandits entered the store, Mrs. Wilson said, "I ain't gonna give you any money."

That's when three shots were fired at the woman, the clerk said.

Officers quoted a clerk as saying that when the bandits entered the store, Mrs. Wilson said, "I ain't gonna give you any money."

That's when three shots were fired at the woman, the clerk said.

Despite Lausche Objections Cities Hope for Airport Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials of Ohio cities hunting for money to modernize their airports—and plenty of them are—will be looking to Washington again if pending legislation goes through.

A bill which passed the Senate last week, over the strong objection of Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), would give Ohio cities some 2½ million dollars annually for the next four years for airports.

There can be no question that municipal officials in Ohio are interested in federal money for their airports. Last year at about this time, they asked for $7,626,000 but were given $2,865,000.

Here is a list of Ohio cities that received at least part of their airport money requests for the current government year (asked figure first, granted figure second):

Akron - Canton ($1,093,000-$511,000); Cincinnati Blue Ash ($225,000-$200,000); Lunken Field, Cincinnati ($97,000-$31,000).

Cleveland Hopkins ($400,000-$400,000); Port Columbus ($2,143,000-$750,000); Dayton (Cox Airport) $1,530,000-$900,00); Mansfield ($92,00-$52,800); Portsmouth ($20,750-$20,750).

Here are the cities that asked for airport money a year ago but received none:

Akron Municipal ($137,500); Cuyahoga County Airport ($999,000); Jefferson ($9,000); Lima ($690,000); Tiffin ($188,000).

In opposing the bill, Lausche objected in particular to the idea of supplying federal money to help the airlines build airport terminals and warehouses.

"That is a private business, and the terminals and warehouses ought to be built by the commercial airlines," he said.

Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) voted for the bill. Vote for passage was 63-22.

New Disaster Plan Is Used by City

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Willoughby Hills put its new disaster control plan into action early today when the Chagrin River began rising sharply from an all-night rain. Several families were evacuated.

Five persons were drowned in last month's flood and the residents of the village—just east of Cleveland—wanted to be ready if more high water came. They drew up the control plan Monday night. A few hours later the plan was in use.

Mayor Martha Tyler was named head of a combined police-fire-civil defense team designed to clear the section of the valley at a moment's notice. The evacuation started at 2 a.m., including several families on the very block where the drownings occurred.

Polo was first played in the United States at Newport, R. I. It was introduced in 1877 by James Gordon Bennett Jr., owner of the New York Tribune.

Honduras Rebellion

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) —The government claimed today that the army was in control of all Honduras after routing a rebel force which seized the key city of Santa Barbara, near the Guatemalan border.

Congress was expected to declare a state of siege—a modified form of martial law—to strengthen the hand of President Ramon Villeda Morales in quelling the revolt.

Flower Arranging Program For Roundtown Garden Club

Mrs. Al Deckard, Stella Ave., was hostess to the Roundtown Garden Club Monday evening. Roll call was answered by 11 members naming a problem they have in their gardens.

Mrs Wes Edstrom Jr. presided over the business meeting. Reports of the recent Pickaway County Traffic Safety Committee and the Sesquicentennial meeting were made.

A discussion was held on the possibility of club members undertaking a project of selling souvenirs during the sesquicentennial year. Mrs. Merle Swank and Mrs. Gail Wolfe were appointed to investigate different possibilities and make a report at the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Ronald List, Route 4.

Mrs. George Bowers Jr. was welcomed as a new member of the club. The members voted to have a Stanley party at 8 p. m. Thursday, March 19, at the home of Mrs. Edstrom, Stella Ave.

Following the business meeting, a panel made up of Mrs. Robert Younkin, Mrs. Deckard and Mrs. Edstrom, presented a program on the basic principles of flower arranging. Different type bases and containers were shown and it was emphasized how imagination plays an important part in enlarging your collection.

Things found around the house such as tin cans, blocks, spools, bamboo can be painted and turned into a very useful item. The panel members also gave the five points used in judging arrangements at flower shows plus the invaluable rhythm formula used in certain type of arrangements.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Anniversary Dinner Held by Jaycee Wives

An Anniversary dinner was held by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wives Club last night at the Fox Farm, Chillicothe, celebrating its six years in existence.

The club was organized in January 1953 with ten charter members at that time. The group was organized to aid the Jaycees in their projects and have since worked on projects of their own.

The table was centered with an arrangement of daffodils. The dinner was served by candlelight. The daffodils were given to Mrs. Charles Alton, Mrs. Howard Weaver and Mrs. Romaine Wilson.

There were two past presidents present, Mrs. Glenn McCoy and Mrs. William Clifton. The two charter members present were Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Wilson.

Other members present were Mrs. Gordon Ander, Mrs. William Blanton, Mrs. John Fissell, Mrs. Richard Fullen, Mrs. Donald Hill, Mrs. Harold Nazel, Mrs. William Stout and Mrs. Jack McGuire.

Guests were Mrs. James Carter and Mrs. Robert Wilkinson.

The next meeting will be held March 10 in Dr. Carroll's office, S. Pickaway St., where several films are to be shown. A short business meeting will follow.

Dinner Dance Enjoyed by Newcomers Club

A Valentine Day Dinner Dance was held by the Circleville Newcomer's Club last night at Tink's Tavern. A Valentine theme was used in the decorations with a center piece of red and white carnations and valentines as place cards.

The door prizes were won by Mrs. Donald Vogel and Harold Ash. The center piece was won by Mrs. Donald L. Archer.

Following the dinner the group enjoyed dancing.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Ash, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kurtz, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. Jude Gleixner, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyer,

A Tasty Veal Goulash For Thrifty Main Dish

By ALICE DENHOFF

Busy days, these, with the homemaker working overtime devising good, substantial main courses for the family dinner. Main dishes that are on the thrifty side, too.

At least that is the picture we get from our friends.

As an alternative to the usual beef stew, how about treating the family to a delicious veal goulash, a sturdy concoction with a continental flavor?

To serve 6-8, cut 3 lbs. boneless veal into 1" cubes.

Brown in 2 to 3 tbsp. hot shortening in a heavy saucepan or Dutch oven. Add 1 bay leaf, 1 tbsp. whole caraway seeds, tsp. whole dill seeds and tbsp. salt.

Tie ½ tsp. black peppercorns in a cheesecloth bag and add along with 2 c. hot water. Cover and cook slowly 1½ hours or until meat is tender.

Add 3 c. onion rings about 30 min. before cooking time is up.

Blend ¼ c. flour with one-third c. water and stir into mixture. Cook until thickened. Stir in tbsp. paprika and 1 c. sour cream. Cook only until hot.

A cold, blustery day it may have been, but all will be well when the brood sits down to a Beef Steak and Kidney Casserole.

To serve 4-5, saute 2 tsp. instant minced onion in tbsp. butter for 2 minutes in a large skillet or saucepan.

Combine 2 tbsp. flour with ⅛ tsp. ground thyme and ¼ tsp. ground sage.

Cut ½ lb. rump ir chuck steak and ½ lb. lamb or beef kidney in 1" pieces. Roll meat in flour mixture. Brown in the butter, adding tsp. salt, tbsp. dried parsley flakes and ⅛ tsp. black pepper. Cover with hot water.

Place in greased casserole. Cover and bake at 350 deg. F. about 1 hour or until meat is tender.

Remove cover and spoon cooked rice around the edge of the casserole. Garnish with sprinkles of paprika.

From the great Southwest comes an interesting recipe for a chicken stew.

To serve 6, wash a 4 to 5 lb. fricassee chicken; pat dry and disjoint. Dust with ½ c. flour mixed with 4 tsp. salt and ½ tsp. black pepper, saving about 2 tbsp. for later use.

Brown chicken pieces in ¼ c. hot shortening.

Remove pieces from pan. Add 2 c. sliced green pepper and 2 c. sliced onions; saute until onion is limp.

Drain off most of the fat. Add the 2 tbsp. reserved flour mixture, 2 tsp. chili powder and ¼ tsp. ground cloves. Mix well.

Stir in 2½ c. tomatoes (No. 2 can) and simmer 5 min. Add chicken, cover and simmer 1 hour or until chicken is tender.

Sprinkle with ½ c. sliced olives just before serving.

Mrs. Dickinson Host for Circle

Circle No. 4 of First Methodist Church will meet in the home of Mrs. Hal Dickinson, 209 N. Scioto St., at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

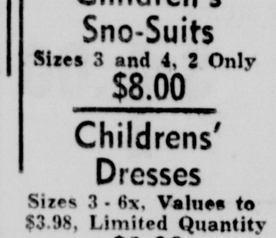

Carry-In Dinner Planned by Tri-M

A carry-in dinner will be held by the Tri-M Class of the First Methodist Church at 6:30 p. m. Friday at the church.

When your teen-agers are making a batch of fudge, they'll probably have a creamy result if they cool the sugar syrup, undistrubed, to a lukewarm temperature before beating.

To retain good natural flavor, in making lemon pie, add the lemon juice called for at the end of the cooking time.

U.S. Judge Rules Priest Owes Tax on Ohio Land Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. tax court judge has ruled that a Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. Raymond Bauschard of Columbus, Ohio, owes $31,788 in taxes on profits he made from the sale of land.

In so ruling, Judge Norman O. Tietjens rejected Father Bauschard's claim he should be permitted to pay a long term capital gain tax rather than the higher, normal income tax rate.

The court said Father Bauschard joined a real estate developer and close friend, Edward Tonti, in buying the land in 1951 near St. Mary's Magadelen's Church, in Father Bauschard's parish.

Their announced reason, the court said, was to prevent a low-cost housing development from being erected in the area, called Hilltop. The price they paid, according to the court, was $77,000, of which Father Bauschard supplied two-thirds.

Later, court papers said, all but 14 lots were sold to builders of higher-cost homes.

Father Bauschard was identified in the opinion as a secular priest who was not required to—and did not—take a vow of poverty.

In arguing his case, the priest said:

"It is legally possible for a Catholic priest to engage in the ordinary course of real estate development and sale as a sideline (but) it is certainly a most unusual concept."

He argued further that he bought the property to protect his parish from deterioration due to encroachment of substandard homes.

But Judge Tietjens said Father Bauschard's profession was not of overriding importance in the case at hand.

He said:

"Since we think the activities herein involved definitely constituted a trade or business, and are attributable to (Father Bauschard) as a member of the joint undertaking, the income arising therefrom must be taxed at ordinary rates. . . .

"The record indicates that the profit motive was always present. . . ."

Robert S. Elsea and Maxine L. Elsea of Circleville Mobile Homes are in Louisville, Ky., with hundreds of other mobile home dealers attending the 23rd Annual National Mobile Homes Show.

Sponsored by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association, the event is the largest yearly gathering of the industry. More than 300 mobile homes and travel trailers are on display along with material of 120 suppliers to the industry.

The Show is being held at the Kentucky Exposition Center. It is one of the largest annual trade shows in the U. S.

Films of "The Twentieth Century" documentary television series are now available for loan to local groups, Leroy Slusser, in charge of the Prudential Insurance Co.'s Circleville office announced today.

The local office has made arrangements for release of the films here, Slusser said. They may be requested directly through the company's Circleville office.

Among the films available are: "Churchill, Man of the Century," "Revolt in Hungary," "Brainwashing," "The Face of Crime," "Enter With Caution: The Atomic Age," "Rockne of Notre Dame," and "Woodrow Wilson?" Few films will become available after their initial presentation on television.

Many of the films are regarded as classic portrayals of major historic episodes during the past 50 years and some 7,000 showings have been made to schools through the country. Loan of the films is now being extended to civic, service, church and fraternal groups.

Hollister Lanman, of 533 S. Court St., manager of the Kroger store here, is participating in a joint "Sky's the Limit" promotion of Scott household paper products.

Sixty-six Kroger supermarkets in a 34-county area are taking part in a gigantic sale of Scott products. The two-week promotion extends from Feb. 9 to Feb. 21.

Sturm and Dillard Co. recently was awarded, for the fourth consecutive year a Certificate of Achievement in Safety from the United States Department of Interior Bureau of Mines.

The certificate was earned in competition of sand and gravel plants throughout the U. S. for outstanding safety records during 1957.

Sturm and Dillard completed 55,964 man hours worked without any lost-time injuries. The certificates was signed by Marling J. Ankeny, Bureau of Mines director, Washington D. C.

In previous years, starting with 1954, Sturm and Dillard has worked 242,526 man hours without a lost-time injury. In 1954 it worked 67,918 man hours; 1955, 58,659, and in 1956, 59,985 hours.

Dillard has also received three consecutive safety awards in the Ohio Industrial Commission's sand and gravel producers competition.

Area Students Pledge at OSU

Three Pickaway County and area persons recently pledged social fraternities at Ohio State University, it was announced today by Dean of Men Mylin H. Ross.

Mark R. List, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther List, Route 1, became a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma. Pledging the same fraternity was Dwight B. Beougher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Beougher, Route 1, Laurelville.

David L. Johns, Amanda, pledged Pi Kappa Alpha. List was a 1958 graduate of Pickaway Twp. High School and Beougher a 1958 graduate of Saltcreek Twp. High School.

Case Held for Jury

James Vinson, 388 Weldon Ave., was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today on an accusation of non-support.

Vinson was held for the Pickaway County Grand Jury on $500 bond. He pleaded innocent. The affidavit was filed by his wife, Marguerite Vinson.

DuPont Plant Lists Changes In Personnel

The local DuPont Co. has announced that three employes have been transferred here for duty with the local plant.

Company officials also announced that Thomas C. Drenan, 33, 140 Reber Ave., has been transferred to DuPont's manufacturing division of the film department in Delaware.

The new personnel assigned here are James M. Stallings, 28, Donald E. Stage Jr., 26, and William H. Ford, 26. Officials here said all are classified as project engineers in the works engineering section.

Stallings, with DuPont since Mar. 15, 1956, comes here from Richmond, Va., where he was associated with the company's cellophane plant in that city. Born in Norfolk, Va., he is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute.

* * *

STALLINGS and his wife, Margaret, have a three-year-old daughter.

Stage joined DuPont on Feb. 5, 1958, and was employed at the Belle Plant in Charleston, W. Va., prior to his assignment here.

Born in Chicago, Ill., Stage is a 1958 graduate of the University of Illinois. He and his wife, Catherine, have no children.

Ford, born in Corvallis, Ore., started his service with DuPont on April 9, 1957. He was assigned as a mechanical engineer at the Belle Plant in Charleston before coming here.

Ford is a graduate of the University of Delaware. He and his wife, Barbara, have one child.

Drenan has worked as a day supervisor in the manufacturing area in the local plant since his assignment here in April, 1954. He came here after working at Du Pont's plant in Buffalo, N. Y.

Drenan was employed by Du Pont in July, 1951. Prior to his job in Buffalo, he was on the staff at the company's cellophane plant in Clinton, Iowa, working in the technical section.

Mr. and Mrs. Drenan have three children. They plan to move to Wilmington, Dela., in the near future.

Caldwells Enjoy New Travel Countries In Mediterranian

(Note: Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, Route 1, Lockbourne, returned recently from a journey to the Mediterranean Sea area. Here is their eye-witness report.)

By Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell

We arrived home several weeks ago from one of our interesting vacation trips which we have been taking to far away places by land, sea and air.

This time it was a four weeks' cruise to the Mediterranean, stopping at nine ports in Europe, North Africa, Gibraltar, and the islands of Sicily, Madeira and the Canaries. Again, we had many interesting and exciting adventures.

For 4½ days enroute we were in one of the roughest seas of the ocean liner's experience, curtailing many planned activities. There were bushels of broken glass, china, and a few bones.

During the height of the rough weather, a rendezvous was made with a naval missile carrier for the transfer of a disabled seaman to the "S. S. Independence" for surgery. This was accomplished by a small life boat manned by eight seamen wearing life jackets. The patient was lashed to a wire basket, securely fastened to the bottom of the boat to prevent him from being washed overboard, then pulled up by pulleys alongside the ship.

All on board experienced another thrill in the harbor of Funchal, Madeira Islands. It was necessary to go ashore by small tender, boarded by jumping off or on the ship's ladder to the side railings of the motor launch. In spite of a very high sea, and many bundles and packages, there were no casualties. The act had to be repeated to disembark when the sea wall and stairway were reached at Funchal.

• • •

ANOTHER BIT of excitement, though not quite so dangerous, was the two-mile slide down the mountain side of Tereiro da Lucta by basket sled, over a tortuous, winding cobblestone path, alternately held back or pulled forward with ropes by two stalwart natives. This is an experience to be had only in Madeira.

A half day's drive from Barcelona, Spain, brought us to the unusual serrated mountains of Montserrat, most celebrated in Spain and a visit to the mountain monastery associated with the legend of the Holy Grail, also the scene of Wagner's opera "Parsifal."

Here we touched the hand holding the orbit of the life size statue of the Black Virgin, carved of ebony by St. Luke, transported during the Crusades, and now enshrined above the monastery cathedral altar.

The chamber is vaulted and lined with mosaics made of gold and semi-precious stones. It is reached by two winding stairways made of marble. Young boys, studying for the priesthood at Montserret presented a vocal concert after an organ recital given by a monk. A funicular railroad, going straight up the side of the highest peak of the serrated mountains presented another thrill.

At Santa Cruz, Canary Islands, named for large dogs found by the Romans, and not for the native song bird, a sweet warbling brown finch; we saw lush banana plantations and water carried down from mountain tops in stone aqueducts to large reservoirs for irrigation purposes.

We took a drive across the island to Teneriff, passing beautiful resort hotels, high in the mountains, low in tariff and frequented mostly by English and German vacationers. Native dancers entertained on the spacious terrace overlooking the swimming pool and the Atlantic Ocean.

It was our good fortune to be there on January 6, a church holiday, while the Epiphany was being celebrated.

We saw the colorful processional in the Cathedral at La Lagunda, enacting the story of the Three Wise Men and their gifts, ascending to a creche high above the main altar and then descending with a processional around the church to the accompaniment of music provided by an organ, tambourines and bells. Young boys took turns in pumping the organ.

AT PALERMO, Sicily, we were impressed by the many gold mosaics found in the Cathedrals, and the Cappachuni catacombs, so different from those found at Rome. Here are preserved over eight thousand bodies, perfectly embalmed and on view in glass cases or coffins, or suspended bodily from the sides of the catacombs.

We also visited Naples and toured the excavated remains of the Roman City of Pompeii, which was buried under the molten lava of Mt. Vesuvius in 79 A.D. We took the spectacular Amalfi Drive, hugging the cliffs along the sea to Salerno and Sorrento.

At Genoa, we saw the house of Columbus and the replica of his sailing vessel, and visited Campo Santo Cemetery, world famous for the exquisite marble statues erected over the tombs. We then drove along the Italian Riviera to Rapallo, Santa Margherita and Portofina.

At Cannes, France we took the Grand Corniche Drive through Nice and along the French Riviera to Monte Carlo and the Casino, and on to the picturesque Palace of the Prince of Monaco and Princess Grace.

Two stops were made on the north coast of Africa. The first was at Tangiers, Morocco, a colorful Moslem City, with its Moslem and Riff people, and a visit to the Caves of Hercules, underground caverns made by the pounding sea on solid rock, lighted only by the small oil torches of Arab guides.

We walked around old Tangiers and the palace of the Sultans, now a museum, strolled through the colorful native flower and vegetable markets and the narrow, steep streets of the Casbah, past No. 10 owned by Barbara Hutton. All shopping was done in the small, oriental bazaars with the usual amount of dickering and bargaining.

The second Moroccon stop was at Casablanca, a beautiful city, one of North Africa's most important ports and a commercial center. The city is very modern, with tree-lined avenues, lovely buildings and four-lane divided highways.

A half day by auto brought us to Rabat, a Moorish stronghold and home of the present Sultan, Mohammed V. This was on Friday, the Moslem holiday and we joined the vast throngs of native people and tourists at the parade grounds of the Sultan's palace to witness the pomp and ceremony attending the Sultan's leaving his palace to offer noon prayers at the mosque on the palace grounds.

AMONG THE interesting passengers aboard for the return trip were Charlton Heston, of "Ten Commandments" fame, his wife and small son; and Miss Martha Scott, also well known as an actress, who were returning to the states after six months in Italy for the filming of "Ben Hur".

Heston plays the title role and Miss Scott must age herself considerably to play the role of his mother. They were pleasant and most unassuming. Mrs. Heston was the shutter bug while her husband made pencil sketches in color of the unusual sights seen.

However, after a month of traveling, we nearly missed the greatest show of all, the rampaging flood waters of the Scioto, which completely covered our farm, except for the hill where our home and barns are located.

We arrived in time, totally unprepared, to find the main highway still closed to traffic and to see all the devastation, debris and loss wrought by high water.

Toledo May Host Young Dems Meet

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo Democrat said Tuesday this city will be picked as the site of the November national convention of the League of Young Democratic Clubs if the local organization can raise $5,000.

Paul H. Kolby, president of the Lucas County Young Democrats, said the official choice probably will occur at a meeting of the National Executive Committee in Miami April 17-19.

Mother Too Busy, Baby Girl Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police were investigating the death of a year-old girl in Huron Road Hospital today. A detective quoted the mother as saying she was too busy to feed the infant more than once a day.

Doctors said Patricia Lee McCarty, youngest of five children of Francis McCarty, 29, and his wife, Martha, 27, suffered from malnutrition and dehydration.

Mrs. McCarty told Detective James Brewer that Patricia became ill Wednesday, but she thought the baby's stomach upset was due to teething. The child was taken to the hospital Sunday night.

Mansfield Reformatory Chief Dies of Attack

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Arthur L. Glattke, an outstanding penal authority and onetime star athlete in Ohio, is dead.

A heart attack felled the 56-year-old Mansfield Reformatory superintendent in his office Tuesday. He died later at General Hospital here.

Glattke, superintendent of the reformatory since 1935, was a past president of the Wardens' Assn. of America and vice president and president of the Ohio Prison and Parole Assn. Between February, 1949 and May, 1954, he was acting division chief of the State Division of Correction.

Dulles Scheduled For Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles, walking slowly but smiling, checked into the hospital today for a hernia operation.

The secretary entered the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center at 10:28 a.m., EST. He was met by the hospital commandant, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton.

Heaton, a surgeon who will do the operation, told newsmen he expected it would be done either Friday or early next week.

Heaton said it would take about two weeks for Dulles to recuperate from the operation.

N-S Freeway Is Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Motorists apparently will have to wait a little longer than they had expected before using Ohio 1—the Cincinnati-Conneaut freeway.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said Monday it appears that no major portion of the route will be finished by the end of the year. He also called on Highway Director Everett Preston to make an inventory on the super-highway.

"We don't want to come along to next fall and have the people of Ohio wonder why the highway is not in operation," DiSalle said.

DiSalle asked the highway director to include in his inventory:

1. How much money has been committed to the freeway so far?
2. With that money, where will we be with respect to completing the freeway?
3. Are there some right of way acquisition problems remaining?
4. How much more money will be needed to complete the freeway?
5. How much more time will be needed to finish the entire project and as near as possible what will be the completion date?

Khrush Gets Invite

No Typhoid Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There have been no cases of typhoid fever reported from areas hit by last month's floods, the State Health Department reports.

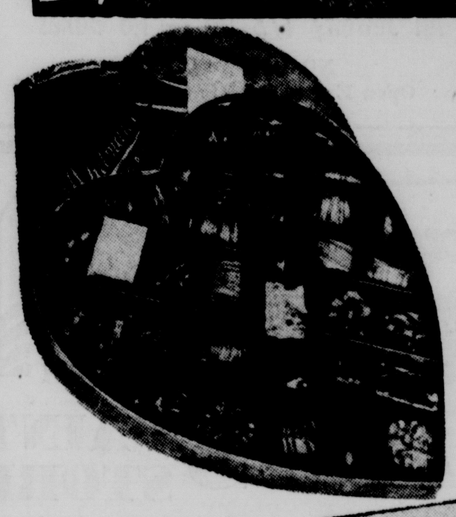

But the department hasn't been sitting back with its fingers crossed.

Dulles Scheduled For Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles, walking slowly but smiling, checked into the hospital today for a hernia operation.

The secretary entered the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center at 10:28 a.m., EST. He was met by the hospital commandant, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton.

Heaton, a surgeon who will do the operation, told newsmen he expected it would be done either Friday or early next week.

Heaton said it would take about two weeks for Dulles to recuperate from the operation.

N-S Freeway Is Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Motorists apparently will have to wait a little longer than they had expected before using Ohio 1—the Cincinnati-Conneaut freeway.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said Monday it appears that no major portion of the route will be finished by the end of the year. He also called on Highway Director Everett Preston to make an inventory on the super-highway.

"We don't want to come along to next fall and have the people of Ohio wonder why the highway is not in operation," DiSalle said.

DiSalle asked the highway director to include in his inventory:

1. How much money has been committed to the freeway so far?
2. With that money, where will we be with respect to completing the freeway?
3. Are there some right of way acquisition problems remaining?
4. How much more money will be needed to complete the freeway?
5. How much more time will be needed to finish the entire project and as near as possible what will be the completion date?

Ups, Downs Of Stock Mart Getting Study

'Big Board' Is Index Of Economy's Move Against Recession

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The ups and downs of the stock market command more attention today as the business recovery teeters on the edge of another possible boom to be sparked perhaps by new inflation.

The market may mirror each day's quota of news. But in the background are some cold statistics about the market itself.

Prices of many stocks rose to record highs before the business recovery really got off the ground. The average yield on the dividend-paying common stocks listed on the big board dropped to the second lower figure since 1940 when the statistics were first compiled by the New York Stock Exchange.

For the first time in 12 years, cash dividends paid on listed common stocks failed to set a new annual high. The majority of companies are reporting earnings lower than in 1957, despite some notable rebounds in the final months of 1958.

This might have sparked more interest in bonds, government and corporate, that yield as much or more. But it didn't. The Treasury learned this to its sorrow when holders of two billion dollars worth of maturing government securities demanded cash instead of the new offerings.

The long rise in stock prices and the cutbacks in dividends, or their omission altogether, have combined to cause the notable drop in stock yields.

The average yield of the 961 stocks that did pay dividends dropped to 4.1 per cent at the end of 1958, the exchange magazine reports. This was the lowest since the end of 1945, when it was 3.6 per cent, the only time in the 18 years of official records it has slipped below 4 per cent.

At the start of this year there were 94 stock issues paying less than 2 per cent, compared with 27 a year earlier. Only 4 yielded 10 per cent or more, against 79 a year before.

Yield is figured by dividing a stock's market price by the total of cash dividends paid on it in the preceding 12 months.

Of the 1,086 common issues listed at yearend, 961 paid one or more cash dividends—317 larger ones, 410 the same amount, and 269 less.

Total payments came to $8,711,482,860. This is a drop of $85,779,470 from 1957, or a decline of one per cent.

Don't Diet Yourself to Death; Change a Few Minor Habits

Millions of Americans who annually suffer through the blitz method of dieting—and deel miserable about it—could take off more pounds and keep them off just by changing a few minor habits, Life magazine said today.

The magazine adds that dieting has become so popular, so fast, that it is considered by many medical men to be a "national neurosis."

Because of the differences in body chemistry, rate of daily activity and a dozen other considerations, it's virtually impossible for any one diet to be suitable for any but specific cases.

The trick, says Life, is not to diet at all. It consists mostly of just a "little more exercise and a little less food each day." This probably represents the sum total of all that is really known on the subject of overweight. If this method will not reduce your weight, nothing will.

Under no circumstances, reports the magazine, is it necessary to live on 500 fewer calories a day Nor is it necessary to suffer the torments of hunger, for it is no great hardship for most people to live on 00 fewer calories a day and lose a pound a week, or even to live on 1,000 fewer calories and lose two pounds a week.

The secret is "skimping on the fatty foods—bacon, butter, chocolate, cream, gravy, ice cream, olives, pastry, peanuts, salad dressing and sausages—and filling the void with fruit, melons and vegetables. You can stuff yourself with celery, sauerkraut or tomatoes to your heart's content every time you feel the slightest twinge of hunger and still stay well within an effective reducing diet.

Life says that the "seemingly most inconsequential changes in eating habits can make a profound difference in weight over the months and years. If one eats more calories than he burns up, they get stored at the rate of one extra pound of fat for every 3,500 extra calories.

According to Life: a single extra slice of bread a day without butter (80 calories) will add eight pounds a year. An extra breakfast egg a day (8 calories) will add nine pounds a year, two tablespoons of heavy cream a day (100 calories) 10 pounds, a luncheon cocktail (150 calories) 15 pounds.

If two women of identical size do everything else alike exactly the same daytime diet and the same amount of work—but one of them gets in the habit of eating a dish of ice cream before going to bed, this one will weigh 20 pounds more than the other at the end of the year.

A man who likes a piece of chocolate cake for dessert at lunch will weigh 40 pounds more at the end of the year than his friend of otherwise identical habits who likes grapefruit for dessert.

The trouble with dieting is that it starts a cycle that almost inevitably leads the dieter to throwing off the shackles of self-control and glutting himself. People discourage easily with "crash diets" that just don't peel off the poundage as fast as they are guaranteed to. They reconcile themselves to becoming overweight—"which they then proceed to do with considerable abandon."

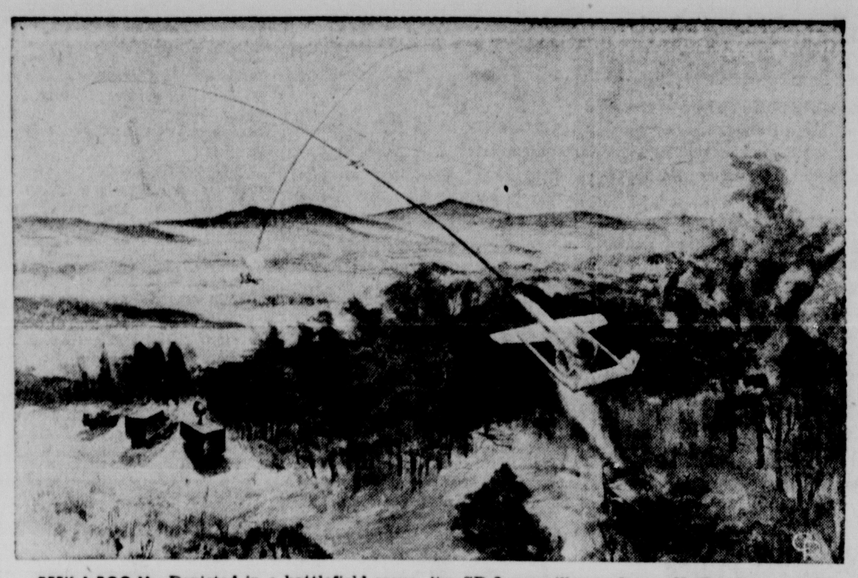

Nobody who likes food well enough to get fat in the first place can live for long on grapefruit and melba toast, or bananas and skimmed milk. As a consequence: "The crash diet, so dear to the hearts of the women's page feature writers, has probably added more inches to more hips than any other culinary development since the first pig was roasted."

Top Republican Aides Named to GOP Staff

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two top figures in the last state administration have joined the staff of Republican state headquarters here.

Hal W. Conefry, press secretary to former Gov. C. William O'Neill, and Carl Guess, former clerk of the Ohio House of Representatives, were appointed to the new posts Tuesday.

Their new duties have not been made known, but Conefry is expected to do liason work with the Legislature.

PEEK-A-BOO-M—Depicted in a battlefield scene, the SD-3 surveillance drone, U. S. Army signal corps' latest reconnaissance weapon, has successfully completed first flights and mission evaluation tests, according to the Army. The longest mission lasted more than 30 minutes, during which the SD-3 swooped in on eight different simulated targets. Built by Republic Aviation, the drone is packed with electronic and sensory devices to "watch" enemy battlefield fortifications and troop movement, and report to ground commanders. It comes home by parachute. (Central Press)

Toddler, 4, Knows How To Get Service

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Nurses at Mercy Hospital made sure they're handy now in case 4-year-old Mark Heldrum wants to talk to them.

Treated as a possible pneumonia victim, Mark awoke in the third floor pediatrics ward feeling pretty good.

Mike looked around, but couldn't find a nurse. He called out once or twice, but no answer.

So Mike hopped out of bed in search of other means.

Seconds later, the hospital's fire gong started ringing and the intercom system blared out its emergency "beep-beep-beep."

Nurses ran for fire stations, doctors hustled to their fire posts and the corridors became rivers of flowing hospital personnel.

Then someone saw Mark waiting patiently in the hallway and told him to get back to bed.

"Nope," said Mark. "I rang for nursie. I want to tell her I'm better."

You guessed it. An intern got Mike to point out what he rang. It was a fire alarm.

MADISON, Wis. (AP)— Instruction in Arabic is offered by only 23 out of an estimated 1,800 American institutions of higher learning, a survey released here shows.

Prof. Menahem Mansoor of the University of Wisconsin Department of Hebrew and Semitic Studies conducted the survey. He pointed out that Arabic is the tongue spoken daily by more than 65 million persons of the Middle East and the sacred language for 250 million people of the world.

OSU Dental Student Sent to Sanitarium

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 22-year-old Ohio State University dental student who admitted sexual attacks on four little girls has been sentenced to a year's confinement in a sanitarium.

Kenneth Thomas Cook of suburban Upper Arlington, had pleaded guilty to molesting girls 6 to 10 years old. He said he needs psychiatric treatment.

Governor Asks Ohio Assembly To Outlaw Capital Punishment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle called on the Legislature yesterday to end capital punishment in Ohio.

His special message said the action could be taken without changing constitutional provisions for reprieves, comutations and pardons for life term prisoners.

"It is my hope that Ohio will join the states that have already demonstrated a civilized attitude and that feel that the taking of a life is wrong whether it is taken by an individual, contrary to the law or whether it is taken by the state in pursuance of the law," the message said.

Eight states have abolished capital punishment.

Seven men are in Ohio Penitentiary awaiting execution for first degree murder.

Action to abolish executions would not be retroactive, the governor asserted. He said it would be up to the Pardon and Parole determine whether lives of the seven would be spared.

The governor said he would study pending bills to substitute life imprisonment for capital punishment but indicated that he would not sponsor an administration measure.

"I still feel that the primary responsibility for the drafting of bills and processing them through to final enactment must be that of the legislative body," DiSalle said in a separate message. That message answered criticism mainly from Republicans that the governor failed to submit bills and specific recommendations.

DiSalle said an end to capital punishment would require several changes in the Ohio law. He said amendments would be needed on sections dealing with eligibility of "lifers" for parole. The Pardon and Parole Commission now can make recommendations for clemency after 20 years imprisonment leading to parole consideration.

"It is also worthy of note that many of the penal reform groups throughout the world, as well as leading experts or correction in the United States, are practically unanimous in the feeling that the death penalty is not a deterrent and is unworthy of continuation by a civilized society.

"Finally, in Ohio we find a rather inconclusive history which leads us definitely to the belief that the application of the death sentence has not been uniform . . . in many instances those with means of securing counsel have been able to escape it while others have paid the penalty.

"Certainly if the death penalty has not served as a deterrent it has, in instances, resulted in preventing society from exonerating a victim of an emotional reaction by prematurely acting and taking the life of an individual, later found to be innocent. . . .

"We know that the death sentence has not prevented the commission of horrible, shocking and revolting crimes. The reason being simply that in crimes of passion that the consequences are not taken into consideration while in crimes involving premeditation, the consequences have been considered and disregarded."

Local Woman Attends Board Meet of BPW

Miss Mary Kennedy, third vice-president of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Dunkle Road, attended the State Board meeting of the OFBPWC held in Columbus during the weekend.

Clubs were urged to send petitions to their congressmen on the Equal Pay Bill which was approved by the Industry-Labor Committee of the House of Representatives.

The board accepted to support the bill concerning the transfer of inspection and licensing of rest homes, nursing homes and institutions from the Welfare Department to the State Health Department. Each club is to study conditions of nursing and rest homes in each respective community and alert its members concerning findings.

The board also recommended that all clubs request members to write congressmen urging the repeal of the Federal Excise Tax on telephone service and public transportation.

The State Legislation Chairman reported that establishing a Women's Division as a part of the structure of the Ohio Department of Commerce has been introduced in the house of representatives.

KNOW WHO?—Well, she's ordinarily a brunette, the well-known Italian actress Sophia Loren. Sophia's a blond here, on set of "Heller With A Gun" in Hollywood, her first western, first blond role she's ever done.

3 Counties Vote To Divert Milk From Lima, Findlay

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Milk producers in three counties have voted to divert milk from Lima and Findlay dairies unless the January price is maintained through February and March.

The farmers face a 45-cent per hundredweight price cut for those two months through a seasonal adjustment.

In three meetings Monday, the voting for diversion was 53-5 in Lima, Allen County; 40-0 in Findlay, Hancock County; and 27-3 in Rockford, Mercer County.

The voting was arranged by the Northwest Cooperative Sales Assn., an organization of dairy farmers.

Miami Cops Probe Big Jewel Thefts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two jewel robberies adding up to a total haul of nearly a million dollars kept police busy seeking clues today.

Latest was Monday's holdup of the Al Levinson Co., a downtown jewelry importing firm which reported gems valued at $500,000 retail were taken.

A man posing as a customer entered the office but aroused no suspicion until an armed confederate came in and ordered workers and a visitor to lie down.

Police would not speculate on the possibility of a connection between the Levinson robbery and the theft Sunday from a hotel suite of $400,000 worth of jewels belonging to Leon C. Greenebaum, board chairman of the Hertz Car Rental Corp.

Christmas holidays in Mexico begin on Dec. 16 and extend until Jan. 7.

Request Is Made For Rescue Truck

Bernard Tait, local Civil Defense director, today announced that he has submitted a second letter of request to the state CD office asking for an emergency rescue truck for this area.

Tait said there s a possibility that the truck might be received here within the next few months. He said the civil defense vehicles are fully outfitted with emergency equipment.

Power's Widow, Ex-Wife Benefit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tyrone Power's widow and his three children will get $2,500 a month living expenses from the actor's estate.

Superior Judge Burdette J. Daniels, setting the allowance Monday, advised survivors to tighten their belts "until we find the condition of this estate."

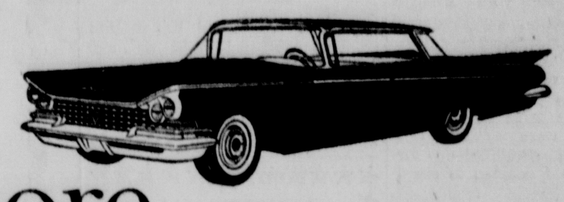

He ordered $1,500 a month for Power's widow and third wife Deborah, 27, and their newborn son.

The actor's second wife Linda Christian, 31, will get $1,000 a month for their daughters Romina, 7, and Taryn, 5.

Power's estate is estimated at about $300,000. He also left $370,000 in life insurance.

Kim Novak Boots Reporter;

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Watch out, Hollywood, here comes a new Kim Novak.

She's feeling her oats. In fact, she even threw a newspaperman off her movie set. After umpteen years of covering the filmland stages, I had to come to New York to be ordered off a set for the first time.

It couldn't have been done by a nicer girl. She was doing a smooching scene with Fredric March in Columbia's "Middle of the Night" at a Manhattan studio.

"I'm sorry," she said afterward. "I was so concerned about what you would think of the scene that I couldn't give a good rehearsal. We were talking this morning about standing up for your rights, so I decided to stand up for mine."

See what I mean? The girl has fire in her eye. This is the first time she has been working away from the watchful guidance of her bosses, and she's enjoying it.

Kim is delighted for several reasons: she is working with March, considered by many America's greatest actor; she had the advantage of rehearsals, which she had never known on her Hollywood films; she is allowed to be natural.

"Look — no makeup," she said happily. "We're going for realism in this picture, and I don't have to wear that layer of goop that cracks if you so much as smile.

"And I can run my hand through my hair if I want to. They don't insist here that every curl be in place."

Kim said she likes the eastern operation, too, because the press deals directly with her. No go-betweens.

"A lot of the bad things that have been printed about me have been the result of someone else's doing," she said. "Now I'm going to answer the questions myself. I may make mistakes, but they will be my mistakes."

Australia was first settled by the Dutch and called New Holland. The British did not take over until 150 years later, in 1768.

Atlanta News

The Perry Twp. Ingenuity Group of the Home Demonstration Club meeting for February was postponed until the following Thursday, February 12, due to conflicting dates with other meetings.

Special week of dedication services are being held at the Atlanta Methodist Evangelical Church, starting on Sunday evening. There will be ministers from Williamsport, Clarksburg and Frankfort to assist with the services.

On next Sunday, February 15, a gospel team of students from Wilmington College, will be our guests for the morning service of worship.

February 17, Tuesday afternoon, at the Atlanta Methodist Evangelical Church the WSCS Ladies will meet for the Study course with Mrs. Glenn Robinson, the instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weidenger and daughter, Martha had as their Wednesday evening guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Shaw and son Billy Joe and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox and son Chucky of Washington C. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Violet of Lucasville visited on Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Long and sons, Darrell and Charles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morris and sons, Ronnie and Marvin Lee, and daughter, Becky and Mrs. J. W. Morris visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brenner and daughter Lorie and son Jimmy, of Dayton. Additional guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ervin of Dayton.

Mrs. Irvin E. Funk and Mrs. Charles Mills and Mrs. Howard Stauffer and daughters, Marilyn, and Lou Ann of Williamsport, attended the Pickaway County Home Demonstration trainer meeting on Hat Construction. Mrs. William Winters of Lancaster was the instructor for the 23 persons present.

Several farms in the Atlanta community have changed hands—George and John Skinner purchasing the Shirley Betts Farm, and Shirley Betts acquiring the George Betts Farm and Harry Speakman of Ashville, purchasing the George Speakman and C. P. Clements Farms.

Mrs. Warren Ogle of Williamsport visited on Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Louis Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ulin McGhee had as their guests during the day Friday and for supper, Mr. and Mrs. George Skinner and children, Vic, Val and Van, and Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner and sons, Scott and Jeffie of Clarksburg.

Patty and Dona Lee Kempton were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox and son Chucky of Washington C. H.

Karen and Don Adams Jr. of Circleville, visited several days with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Homer Long and sons.

The PTO members are busy planning for the Lions Club (Ladies Night) Dinner, scheduled for March 5 and their PTO annual Fish Supper, March 20.

Mrs. Jake Justice and Mrs. Irvin E. Funk attended the Pickaway County Council meeting of the Home Demonstration Groups, on Tuesday afternoon at the Extension Office at Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swackhamer of Columbus, were recently surprised, when relatives arrived with a covered dish dinner, honoring Mrs. Swackhamer on her birthday. After a delicious noon meal, an afternoon of visiting and opening of gifts by the honored guest, was enjoyed.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stephenson and daughter, Karen of Washington, C. H., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whitten and children, Carlene and Gary of Clarksburg, and Miss Janice Whitten, of Columbus, and of this community, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris and daughter, Debbie and Mrs. J. W. Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mills spent Sunday afternoon, guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor of Grove City.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Weidenger of Washington C. H., visited on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. George Donohoe and daughter, Portia. The Weidengers were enroute, for a vacation in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mills were Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mills Jr. and family of Washington C. H. The occasion being Joe Mills' 5th birthday. Additional afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Donohoe and sons Roger and Robin of Washington C. H. and supper guests included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Orr and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Downing of Washington C. H.

Bender Rips O'Neill, Ike And Chamber

CLEVELAND (AP)—George H. Bender did some plain talking Tuesday night. He ripped into former Gov. C. William O'Neill and the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and criticized President Eisenhower.

The former Ohio Republican senator said O'Neill "kicked every Republican in the teeth who went out and worked for him I supported him as best I could, but, frankly, I didn't break my neck for him."

Of the Chamber of Commerce he said: "I'd like to dump the Ohio Chamber of Commerce right in the middle of Lake Erie for what they did to the Republican Party on that right-to-work business at the last election."

The right-to-work issue, backed by the Chamber of Commerce, brought out a heavy labor vote in November and many Ohio Republicans were swamped.

Bender spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Chagrin Falls Chamber of Commerce. He now heads a committee appointed by James Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, to help clean up the union.

The former senator said he thought Eisenhower was personally a "good man," but that the President associates himself with too many rich men.

"Eisenhower ought to read a little more about Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, who had respect for the rich but who had love in their hearts for the poor people," Bender said.

He also said that he had never found the Republican Party as dead around the United States as it is now.

Objection Overruled

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)— Mrs. Betty Powell was being examined for possible jury duty when she voiced her objection to the courtroom friendliness of the two opposing lawyers.

Then Judge Thomase Troland quoted to her from Shakespear's "The Taming of the Shrew":

"And do as adversaries do in law, strive mightily, but eat and drink as friends."

Mrs. Powell was excused from duty.

Increased Truck Use Hikes Turnpike Revenue

CLEVELAND (AP)—A large increase in the number of trucks using the Ohio Turnpike last month pushed toll revenue over the one-million-dollar mark.

The Turnpike Commission reported that 184,964 trucks traveled on the toll road during January—an increase of 33,421 compared with January, 1958. Passenger cars totaled to 460,818 compared with 472,951 in the first month of last year.

Toll revenue in January came to $1,076,542—a jump of $111,965 compared with the amount collected in the same month last year.

Real name of Buffalo Bill, who died in 1917, was William Frederick Cody.

Dulles Quit? Hagerty Calls Tale Cockeyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — "That's cockeyed."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty gave that reply Tuesday night when asked about reports President Eisenhower is concerned over the possibility that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may not be able to resume his duties.

The reports came from Republican congressional sources after Dulles entered Walter Reed Hospital for a hernia operation and treatment of a recurring intestinal inflammation.

Hagerty also scoffed at other reports that Eisenhower is giving serious consideration to a possible successor to Dulles.

Along the same line, an influential GOP official came away from the White House with a report he was convinced that every member of the President's official family expects Dulles to recover rather swiftly.

At Walter Reed, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the surgeon who will operate on Dulles, said the hernia operation will be a simple one. He predicted the 70-year old Cabinet member will be on his feet a short time later.

Despite official denials, however speculation was reported running through administration circles as to a possible successor if Dulles is unable to return.

The most frequently mentioned name was said to be that of John J. McCloy, New York banker and former U.S. high commissioner to Germany.

Also among those being considered are Under Secretary of State Christian Herter, who will fill in for Dulles, and Under Secretary C. Douglas Dillion.

U. S. War Department expenditures during 1789-91 were $632,804. In 1944 and 1945 they were 50 billion dollars each year.

Stock tickers were first put into use in the New York Stock Exchange in 1867. Telephones were installed in 1879.

Speeding Check Proves Puzzler to City Aide

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The check was to pay a speeding penalty, and it should have been for $20. But it was for $9.80 and was marked: "Fifty per cent for wholesale distributor's discount; 2 per cent for payment within 10 days."

The puzzled clerk at the nearby village of Stew, Mrs. Dorothy Thompson, telephoned the check writer, an Akron jeweler, for an explanation. He said he had been paying a number of other bills "and this one got mixed in."

Austria has 132 schools where special care is provided for handicapped children.

Swine Festival Slated at London

Charles E. Bell, chief of the animal industry branch of the Federal Extension Service, Washington, D. C., will speak at the All-Ohio Swine banquet February 20 at the Madison County Fairgrounds, London.

Bell will discuss integration in the livestock business. His extensive travel has enabled him to observe integrated operations in many parts of the country.

The banquet will be a prelude to the Ohio Spring Barrow Show at the Fairgrounds February 21 and to a carcass show at the Braun Brothers Packing Plant, in Troy, February 25. Barrows for the show will be received, weighed and tagged on February 20, according to Herbert Barnes, Ohio State University Extension Swine Specialist.

One weight class, 190 to 220 pounds, is listed for each breed and the crossbreds, Barnes says. Authorized 4-H and FFA project barrows also will show in one class, regardless of breed or cross. Premiums for individuals and pens-of-three are offered for all these groups. In the pen-of-ten class, all breeds and crosses will be shown together.

While individual champions compete for the grand championship, members of the audience may indicate on cards how they think the animals will place in the carcass contest, Barnes says. Adult and junior winners will receive prizes.

BARROWS will be sold at auction following the show. Each exhibitor may nominate one barrow for the carcass contest in Troy. Last year 106 barrows were entered. A committee will select about half the carcasses for complete cutout evaluation, according to Barnes, and length, backfat and loin eye measurements will be posted on the remaining carcasses.

The show is sponsored by three association members of the Ohio Swine Grower's Council, including the Ohio Swine Breeders and Feeders Assn., the Ohio Commercial Swine Producers Assn. and the Swine Improvement Association of Ohio. John T. Sommers, Jr., Urbana, is chairman of the show committee.

Pickaway County swine producers may receive additional information from George Hamrick, County Extension Agent, Agriculture, at the County Extension Office, at 159½ E. Main St., Circleville. Farmers who desire to attend these events with the county group should also contact the County Extension Office.

Homemaker Show Planned At OSU Soon

Home economics exhibits at Farm and Home Week, March 24, 25 and 26, will focus attention on current trends in foods, household equipment, home management, textiles and clothing.

Visitors to Campbell Hall on the Ohio State University campus may see these exhibits each day from 9:15 to 10 a. m., and from noon to 2 p. m. All divisions in Ohio State's School of Home Economics plan exhibits.

Displays in foods and nutrition will be built around these titles: "The Meaning of Bread Enrichment", "Have You Featured These in Your Meals Lately", "Atmosphere for Eating", "Low Temperature Meat Roasting", and "Food Supply for Individual Survival in the Event of Disaster".

Textiles and clothing exhibits show changes in hat styles, nonwoven garments, a collection of hand irons, helps for fitting and easy sewing methods for the professional look.

Household equipment and home management exhibits will emphasize good grooming for floors, improved living standards, family planning and what's inside upholstered furniture.

A family and child development exhibit will show "Good and Poor Selection in Children's Books and Toys". One in-home economics education will be based on the theme "Homemaking Education in Our High Schools Means Better Family Living in Our Community".

Wool Marketing Year Ends Soon

Chairman Marvin G. Steely of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee today reminded farmers that the marketing year under the 1958 wool program will end March 31.

The wool program is conducted under the National Wool Act of 1954. Payments under the 1958 program will be made this summer when the payment rates are determined on the basis of national average prices received by producers for shorn wool during the 1958 marketing year. Any marketings after March 31, will be eligible under the 1959 program.

In any condition concerning the sale is not settled by March 31, the sale will not be considered as completed. Title must have passed to the buyer, the wool must have been delivered to the buyer (either physically or through documents), and the last of the factors (price per pound, weight, yield) needed to determine the total purchase price must be available.

Applications for payment under the 1958 program must be filed with the county ASC office not later than April 30, 1959.

Burley Deadline Set

Applications for new farm allotments for Burley Tobacco must be filed in the county ASC office not later than Feb. 15, 1959.

Persons applying for allotments must have experience in growing tobacco.

Be Careful With Soybeans

The soybean grower can lose up to $20 or $30 an acre by placing fertilizer improperly, according to a report from the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Poor stands and a yield loss of 10 to 15 bushels per acre occurred when fertilizer was placed one inch directly below the seed or as close to the seed as a half inch. The seeds can not absorb sufficient water for normal germination when the fertilizer is too close to the seed, agronomist H. J. Mederski says. In some fields one-fourth to one-half the beans never got through the ground.

Research with four methods of soybean fertilization proved that the best soybean yields and stands can be expected when fertilizer is placed about 1½ inches to the side and the same distance below the seed.

The soybeans in the test were fertilized at the rate of 200 and 400 pounds of 0-20-20 per acre. Even at the lower rate, damage to the plants were severe from improper fertilizer placement.

Corn, too, suffers when fertilizer is poorly placed, but the soybean is much more sensitive than corn.

New Bulletin Offers Advice On Pesticides

Vegetable growers should regard the application of most pesticides as a preventive practice.

Growers will get best results when they make first applications before trouble is apparent, say authors of a new bulletin published by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and the Agricultural Extension Service.

The bulletin, entitled "Pesticides for the Control of Vegetable Insects and Diseases", lists latest recommended treatments for some 25 vegetable crops. Authors of the publication are J. D. Wilson and J. P. Sleeman of the experiment station staff, who prepared the material in cooperation with Lyle Goleman and Blair Janson of the Agricultural Extension Service.

In addition to listing what chemicals to use on certain vegetables, the authors also suggest precautions to take when applying highly poisonous materials. Parathion and TEPP, for example, are extremely effective insecticides, they say, but also are highly poisonous to humans if inhaled, absorbed through the skin, or swallowed.

Copies of the publication are available at the Pickaway County Extension Office, 159½ E. Main St.

Walnut Group Sets Hay Show

The Walnut Adult Farmer group will hold a hay and silage show at 8 p. m. Thursday at Walnut High School.

Everyone is asked to bring several slices of his "good" hay and two big handfuls of silage.

Refreshments and recreation will be provided after the meeting, according to G. N. Houser, Walnut School advisor.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Art Deal Jr.

The Ashville - Harrison PTA will mett at 7:30 p. m. February 19 in the school auditorium.

The program will consist of a panel of parents, students, and teachers discussing "Johnny's Problems, Parents Opinions, and Teacher's Philosophy."

The Porgram Committee urges that all parents, teachers, and interested persons of the community be present to join in the discussion of these everyday problems. The committee feels that everyone will benefit from this program.

The February meeting of the Ashville Civic Club was held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. James Courtright.

The program consisted of a panel made up of club members and teen-age students discussing television programs and the type of programs that are being presented today. Many interesting facts came out of this discussion.

Club members sitting on the panel were Mrs. William Snyder, Mrs. Rolland Featheringham and Mrs. Felix Dore'. Students participating were Joy Trone, Nancy Featheringham, Tom Bausum and Mike Courtright. Moderator for the group was Mrs. Dan Scarberry. Sonny Roof entertained with an accordian solo.

Mrs. Thomas Keal and Miss Lola Shreve were received as new members. It was announced that a party for Golden Year Persons of the community will be given in March. This will be the second year for this party. The committee making final plans for this is Mrs. Thomas Purcell, Mrs. Featheringham, Mrs. Paul Cromley and Mrs. Earl Reed.

SEVERAL changes of the constitution were acted upon and revised. The election of officers will take place at the March meeting. Those appointed to serve on the nominating committee by the club president, Mrs. Donald Flierl, are Mrs. Art Deal, Jr., Mrs. Charles Helser and Mrs. Dore'.

The Scholarship Committee is preparing a plaque to be placed in the Ashville School commemorating the recipient of the scholarship to be awarded annually to a graduating senior of Ashville - Harrison High School. A bulletin will be printed and distributed in the school also informing seniors of the many scholarships made available by the Federation of Women's Clubs.

It was voted to donate $10 of staple groceries each to two families in our community who need assistance at this time.

Mrs. George Ghearing and Mrs. William Trimble were appointed to compile all the recipes that each member contributed into a book form for all members to receive.

Mrs. Flierl asks that all members take note of this announcement that she inadvertently left out Thursday evening. Mrs. Chloe Gifford, president of The National Federation of Women's Club, will appear on television, Friday night, Feb. 20 at 10:30 p. m. on the Edward R. Murrow, "Person to Person" program. This should be of interest to all members.

Assisting the host was Mrs Scarberry, Mrs. Harold Bowers, and Mrs. Frank Morrison.

Please note a correction in the Lenten services to be held at the First English Lutheran Church on this Wednesday evening. The service will begin at 7:30 p. m. instead of the announced 8 p. m. in last week's paper.

The Lenten services have been prepared by pastor-elect, Mr. Gruenberg, but will be delivered in the pulpit that evening by Elmer Blackmer, a student from the Lutheran Seminary of Capital University.

The Ashville Methodist Church is honoring the Rev. H. O. Harbaugh, on his 92nd birthday Friday evening, with a pot-luck supper to be held in the church basement at 6:30 p. m. The entire congregation of the church and church school are asked to bring a well-filled basket and table service and enjoy an evening of family fun. Coffee and milk will be furnished. Films will be shown to the children while dinner is being prepared and a program will follow the dinner.

The Ladies Aid of the Evangelical United Brethren Church will hold its monthly meeting at the church at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Also on the same night the Willing Workers of the First English Lutheran Church will meet in their church at 8 p. m.

THE BASTIAN Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Sunday, Feb. 1 took Mrs. Glen Klopfenstein, Ashville, to Mercy Hospital; Tuesday, Feb. 3 took James Martin of Commercial Point to White Cross Hospital; and Friday, Feb. 6 returned Claude Nothstein home from Mercy Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bastian returned home by train Thursday evening after spending several weeks in California visiting with Mr. Bastian's brother and family.

The Lenten Bible Study on the book of Isaiah will be held at the Hedges Chapel Methodist Church on four successive Wednesday afternoons, beginning Feb. 18. Sessions wlil last from 1:30 p. m. untill 3 p. m. The class is open to all who are interested.

For an evening of fun attend the St. Valentine's Dance being sponsored by the Ashville Community Post No. 730 of the American Legion in the Ashville High School Auditorium, Saturday, Feb. 14 from 9 to midnight. There will be round and square dancing with music being furnished by the Dana Myers Orchestra. An electric skillet will be given away and refreshments will be served.

Toledo Schools Plan Shift Setup

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Students at two of Toledo's largest high schools—Devilbiss and Libbey — will attend classes in shifts next fall because of overcrowded conditions.

The early shift, 7:45 a.m. to 12:40 p.m., will be made up of juniors and seniors. Freshmen and sophomores will attend on the afternoon shift, 11:45 a.m. to 4:40 p.m. Devilbiss has some 2,700 pupils. Libbey has 2,500.

Defeat of operating and building levies in recent years was cited by the Toledo Board of Education Monday when it adopted the staggered schedules.

More than 10 million houses in the United States are 50 years old, And 25 million houses are 30 years old.

In 1957 alone about one-third of a million men and women in the United States received a college degree.

Poodle Wins Then Retires

NEW YORK (AP) — The queen gave up her throne today.

Ch. Fontclair Festoon, a shiny black Miniature Poodle who went best in show in the Westminister Kennel Club Dog Show Tuesday night, quit almost as soon as the big red, white and blue rosette was presented to her handler, Anne Rogers.

"She is finished," said Miss Rogers. "We had decided yesterday that win, lose or draw, she would be retired. We're sticking to our decision.

"From now on, she will live a life of motherhood."

Miss Rogers said Festoon is a house pet for investment banker Clarence Dillon, who owns the Dunwalke Kennels of Far Hills, N. J.

A Miniature Poodle hasn't won the big one at Westminister since 1943, but the judge, Thomas H. Carruters of Glendale, Ohio, couldn't take his eye off Tina. He admitted it was close, though.

"The Poodle was in beautiful form, full of quality and moved perfectly. The Dane grew on me, but I couldn't fault the Poodle. I also like the Peke very much."

Carruters was talking about two of the other finalists, the Great Dane, Ch. Honey Hollow Stormy Rudio, owned by Cathryn Clark of Medford, N. J., and the Pekingese, Ch. Chik-T-Sun of Cavershame, sent in by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Venable of Atlanta.

Swine Festival Slated at London

Charles E. Bell, chief of the animal industry branch of the Federal Extension Service, Washington, D. C., will speak at the All-Ohio Swine banquet February 20 at the Madison County Fairgrounds, London.

Bell will discuss integration in the livestock business. His extensive travel has enabled him to observe integrated operations in many parts of the country.

The banquet will be a prelude to the Ohio Spring Barrow Show at the Fairgrounds February 21 and to a carcass show at the Braun Brothers Packing Plant, in Troy, February 25. Barrows for the show will be received, weighed and tagged on February 20, according to Herbert Barnes, Ohio State University Extension Swine Specialist.

One weight class, 190 to 220 pounds, is listed for each breed and the crossbreds, Barnes says. Authorized 4-H and FFA project barrows also will show in one class, regardless of breed or cross. Premiums for individuals and pens-of-three are offered for all these groups. In the pen-of-ten class, all breeds and crosses will be shown together.

While individual champions compete for the grand championship, members of the audience may indicate on cards how they think the animals will place in the carcass contest, Barnes says. Adult and junior winners will receive prizes.

BARROWS will be sold at auction following the show. Each exhibitor may nominate one barrow for the carcass contest in Troy. Last year 106 barrows were entered. A committee will select about half the carcasses for complete cutout evaluation, according to Barnes, and length, backfat and loin eye measurements will be posted on the remaining carcasses.

The show is sponsored by three association members of the Ohio Swine Grower's Council, including the Ohio Swine Breeders and Feeders Assn., the Ohio Commercial Swine Producers Assn. and the Swine Improvement Association of Ohio. John T. Sommers, Jr., Urbana, is chairman of the show committee.

Pickaway County swine producers may receive additional information from George Hamrick, County Extension Agent, Agriculture, at the County Extension Office, at 159½ E. Main St., Circleville. Farmers who desire to attend these events with the county group should also contact the County Extension Office.

Homemaker Show Planned At OSU Soon

Home economics exhibits at Farm and Home Week, March 24, 25 and 26, will focus attention on current trends in foods, household equipment, home management, textiles and clothing.

Visitors to Campbell Hall on the Ohio State University campus may see these exhibits each day from 9:15 to 10 a. m., and from noon to 2 p. m. All divisions in Ohio State's School of Home Economics plan exhibits.

Displays in foods and nutrition will be built around these titles: "The Meaning of Bread Enrichment", "Have You Featured These in Your Meals Lately", "Atmosphere for Eating", "Low Temperature Meat Roasting", and "Food Supply for Individual Survival in the Event of Disaster".

Textiles and clothing exhibits show changes in hat styles, non-woven garments, a collection of hand irons, helps for fitting and easy sewing methods for the professional look.

Household equipment and home management exhibits will emphasize good grooming for floors, improved living standards, family planning and what's inside upholstered furniture.

A family and child development exhibit will show "Good and Poor Selection in Children's Books and Toys". One in-home economics education will be based on the theme "Homemaking Education in Our High Schools Means Better Family Living in Our Community".

Virginia Tech Cager Looms As Top Scorer

Bob Ayersman Climbs To 4th Place in College Standings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big Bob Ayersman of Virginia Tech has pushed his way in among the top four college basketball scoring leaders while helping produce a threat to West Virginia's domination of the Southern Conference.

The 6-4 sophomore from Boomer, W.Va. scored 47 points Tuesday night to lead Virginia Tech to a 104-66 victory over Richmond. Ayersman tossed in 17 field goals and 13 free throws to set a school single game scoring record.

Ayersman hiked his season's total to 478 points and a 28.1 average for 17 games. The only major college players ahead of him are Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati 32.5 Leo Byrd of Marshall 29.8 and Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech 29.0.

The victory gave Virginia Tech an 8-2 record in the conference.

Ayersman's performance, the 80-72 victory by sixth-ranked North Carolina State over Duke and the end of Missouri's 11-game losing streak were among the noteworthy developments on Tuesday night's program.

Lou Pucillo, North Carolina State's 5-9 guard from Philadelphia, scored 27 points as the Wolfpack picked up their 17th triumph against two setbacks.

Missouri broke the longest losing streak in its history by turning back Oklahoma State 51-44. Missouri won the game at the free throw line, canning 13 of 16 while Oklahoma State managed only 6 of 13. It was Missouri's first victory since beating Rice last Dec. 18.

George Washington came from behind a seven point halftime deficit, tied the score with 53 seconds remaining and defeated Maryland in overtime 66-65. Bill Telasky's jump shot got George Washington even in regulation time. Then Bucky McDonald took over, scoring eight of the Colonials' nine points in the extra period.

In the Southwest Conference, Wade Wolfe scored 15 points before fouling out early in the second half to lead Texas Tech to a 76-54 triumph over Texas and Southern Methodist edged Baylor 54-50 in a tight game during which the lead changed hands 15 times and the score was tied 14 times.

Eastern Kentucky virtually clinched the Ohio Valley Conference championship by whipping Morehead, Ky. 95-77.

In other action, Don Hennon, who has a 27.2 points average for 20 games, had 26 to lead Pittsburgh to a 76-65 victory over Carnegie Tech; Davidson beat winless (0-12) Washington and Lee 84-75 in overtime; Boston University used a fast break to defeat Connecticut for the first time in 24 years, 67-55, and St. Francis (N.Y.) defeated Seton Hall 67-58.

Ohio's 601 Class A Cage Teams Hit Tourney Trail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 601 Class A high school basketball teams will be on the tournament trail this weekend.

County eliminations, slashing the huge field down to 178 quintets for sectional-district play, are on all over the state. Only four teams will survive for the state championship clashes here March 20-21.

The county tests will be completed Feb. 21, after which the remaining 178 Class A and the entire field of 410 Class AA teams will swing into sectional tournaments to be completed Feb. 28, and district meets due to wind up March 7.

Survivors of the "lose and out" combat in district play will head into Class AA regionals at Berea, Kent, Toledo and Cincinnati, and Class A regionals at Canton, Troy, Lima and Athens.

The regionals, ending March 14, will slice the field in each class to the four competitors in the state championships the following weekend at St. John Arena on the Ohio State University campus.

Sectional-district meets, the last week in February, are scheduled in Class AA at Columbus, Dennison, Toronto, Martins Ferry, New Concord, Elyria, Berea, Parma, Bedford, Euclid, Ashtabula Harbor, Youngstown, Canton, Kent, Akron, Alliance, Struthers, Wooster, Bryan, Waterville, Lima, Marion, Rossford, Fremont, Sandusky, Toledo, Athens, Oak Hill, Bainbridge, Portsmouth, Cincinnati, Oxford, Middletown, Dayton, Troy and Xenia.

The Class A sectional - district events are at Marion, Westerville, Brilliant, Dover, Zanesville, Marietta, Ashland, Lorain, Fairport Harbor, Canton, Warren, Celina, Bluffton, Waterville, Defiance, Fremont, Rawson, Tiffin, Mansfield, Athens, Wellston, Portsmouth, Piketon, Cincinnati, Dayton and Springfield.

The district tournaments will slash each field to 16. In the regionals, from which the state finalists will emerge, the contesting teams will be:

Class AA: at Berea, one southeastern, three northeaster; at Kent, three northeastern, one eastern; at Toledo, three northwestern, one central; at Cincinnati, four southwestern.

Class A: at Canton, two northeastern, two eastern; at Lima, four northwestern; at Athens, two southeastern, one eastern, one central; at Troy, three southwestern, one central.

Approximately 25,000 youngsters are on the state's cage squads. Defending state champions are Cleveland East Tech in Class AA, and Northwestern of Wayne County in Class A.

Jeff Five Wins Fayette Contest

Jeffersonville tamed Good Hope, 51-29, last night in the first game of the Fayette County Cage Tournament. The test was played at Washington C. H.

Jeffersonville led by only nine points in the third quarter, but poured on the steam in the final chapter. Good Hope held Jeff's high-scoring Jim Cook to 14 points.

Bloomingburg is scheduled to meet Madison Mills tomorrow night. New Holland will meet Jeffersonville Saturday night.

The tourney finals are slated next Wednesday night.

Brown Dares Youngster To Take Crown

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Explosive Joe Brown dares young Johnny Busso of New York to knock off his world's lightweight crown tonight. Johnny says he's just the guy to do it, too.

That sums up Houston's third title fight in nine months. There may be 10,000 out to see if aging Joe still has the durability to ward off youth's charge.

Brown, 33, a campaigner for 13 years, meets a fellow who's been in the game less than half that long.

The slim little guy from Baton Rouge, La., battles Busso over the 15-round route starting at 10 p.m. EST with all the country except Houston able to see it on ABC television.

There was $40,000 in the till at the close of business Tuesday night and Texas Boxing Enterprises, promoters of the bout, think at least $20,000 should come in today. If so total receipts will be about $100,000 since television is paying $40,000. That means Brown will take $40,000 and Busso $20,000.

Busso is confident he can wreck the Brown dynasty because he beat the champion in an overweight fight in Miami in November. That one was only 10 rounds and Brown says if it had gone 15 he would have won. Busso counters that the longer it went the more decisively he would have won since he is stronger and younger. Johnny is only 24.

Brown's manager, Lou Viscusi, isn't sure Busso won't be weakened by having to take off weight for this fight since he thinks Busso is a "large lightweight" anyway.

Stoutsville Five In Lead Spot

Stoutsville continued to lead Pickaway County area teams in the statistics column with a .632 percentage on the basis of a 12-7 record.

Top offensive squad was Centralia with 61.2 points per game. No. 1 defensive quintet was Stoutsville, holding opposition to 54.4 points a game and trailed closely by Laurelville with a 54.5 average.

Trailing the Bulldogs on offense was Kingston with a 59-point average and the Wildcats with an average of 57.9 points per contest.

The Bulldogs and Wildcats remained tied for second place in percentages with identical 9-8 records for .529. This is the fifth week in a row that these two fives have been deadlocked.

The Indians have scored the most points this season — 1,079, while Laurelville has allowed the least scored — 926.

9 3-Year-Olds Set for Stakes

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) —A field of about nine home-folded 3-year-olds shapes up for the California Breeders Champion Stakes at Santa Anita Thursday for a purse that may be worth $89,120.

That would be the added purse if nine go to the post in the mile and one-sixteenth feature. The race is limited to 3-year-olds foaled in California and the $89,120 would make it the richest race under these conditions in the state's history.

Slated to race are Fighting Indian, Finnegan, Monk's Hood, Friar Roach, Linmold, King O' Turf, Navy King, F.H. Russ and The Biscuit.

Trojans Tops On Offense

Saltcreek Grabs Defensive Honors

Darby captured the Pickaway County season statistics title with a 16-1 slate for a .941 percentage and led in offensive average with 67.7 points per game.

The No. 1 defensive team was Saltcreek holding opponents to 50 points per game. The Trojans were second in this column with a 54.4 average.

Last year the Trojans led the county in games won during the regular season with a 14-2 slate. The top offensive team was Scioto with a 71.9 average and No. 1 defensively was New Holland with a 43.6 average.

This season Ashville trailed Darby in offensive statistics with an average of 64.3 points per game. Scioto ended in third spot with a 63.7 average.

* * *

THIRD place defensively went to Williamsport with a 56.4 average. The county's 10 teams split on the .500 percentage mark as Ashville (.555); Saltcreek (.571); Williamsport (.632); Scioto (.813), and Darby ended the season over the mark.

The county's top scoring outfit was Ashville with 1,157 points during the regular season, followed by Darby, 1,151, and Williamsport, 1,118.

Saltcreek allowed its opponents the least amount of points, 714, followed by Walnut, 830, and Darby, 924. Walnut scored the least amount of points, 742, while Ashville allowed the most, 1,143.

Hunters using high power rifles must also learn to lead running game. A deer running perpendicular to the line of fire at 10 miles per hour would have to be given a lead of 1½ feet at 100 yards, and 3½ feet at 200 yards, if the hunter were using a 30-06 rifle and 180 grain bullets.

Hillsboro Five Will Test CHS Friday Night

The Circleville Tigers will be after their second cage win in succession with a trip to Hillsboro Friday night.

Coach Dick Snouffer's Tigers also will be out for a repeat performance. Earlier in the season, the locals, trounced the invading Indians, 54-44.

Again the Tigers will be faced with their old nemesis, the road jinx. To date Circleville has won only two away games, at Waverly and Franklin Heights.

However, the Red and Black forces have proved to be dominating foes on the home floor. They have lost only one test here, a 65-51 verdict to Chillicothe, rated ninth in the state.

* * *

FOLLOWING the pattern of Circleville, Hillsboro always is a rugged competitor on the home floor. Friday night, the Indians trounced visiting Franklin Heights, 49-20, and will be seeking to make the Tigers their second South Central League victim in a row.

Indications are that Coach Snouffer will start the same five which handed Columbus Aquinas a convincing 69-42 defeat here Saturday night. Getting the nod in this test were Forwards Asa Elsea and Jake Bailey, Center Larry Hannahs and Guards Don Rowland and Cal Ellis.

Bailey, joining the Tigers at the start of the second semester, has added a valuable spark to the local hardwood campaign with his spirited floor play and ability to score. His best scoring effort to date was against Aquinas when he racked up 16 points.

City Cage Loop To End Season

Circleville Independent basketball winds up its season Thursday night with three games scheduled at the Pickaway County Coliseum.

The card lists Ashville vs. Yingling Hybrids, Dunlaps vs. Kirk Furniture and River Oil vs. Veterans of Foreign Wars.

River Oil, currently undefeated in loop play, will pit its perfect record against VFW. The VFW quintet is undefeated in second round play.

The Manager Speaks—

Giants To Finish First or Second

By BILL RIGNEY
San Francisco Giants

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) —The Giants were expected to finish sixth last year. We fooled the experts by finishing third. That's because we came up with the finest rookie crop I've ever had the pleasure of seeing.

I think with that year of experience under their belts, the Giants should be even better in 1959. I don't buy that gab about sophomore jinxes. Our key rookies like Orlando Cepeda, Bob Schmidt, Jim Davenport, Leon Wagner, Willie Kirland and Felipe Alou should be be even better.

I thought we could have used more pitching last year—another top flight starter, and a shut-the-door late inning reliefer. Also, I thought another really first class infielder would have tied the whole club together.

We've added Jack Sanford to the starting staff and think he can be one of the league's best. Billy Muffett is the fellow I think can be the relief man answer. A year ago with the Cardinals he was as good as they come. In the infield, I'm hoping that Andre Rodgers can make it at shortstop. That will enable me to play Daryl Spencer at second.

I think Mike McCormick, our fine lefty, will be better. All he lacked last year was a man's matured strength. I thought Allan Worthington was surely going to be a good major league pitcher last year. I still think so. It's about time good luck gave a nod to Stu Miller. And don't forget our ace, Johnny Antonelli.

Every team can always find room for more pitching. But we have the most power and the most prolific run scoring punch in the league. We have good team speed and possibly the greatest collection of throwing arms all around the field that I've seen.

Milwaukee definitely is the team to beat. They are the champions, have a fine team and outstanding pitchers. Pittsburgh has a nicely balanced and now well-seasoned team.

Notice I didn't once mention Willie Mays? What can I say about him that everybody doesn't already know?

He's just the greatest—that's that's all.

Next—Casey Stengel, New York Yankees.

Pro Cagers Plan New Coast Showing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The National Basketball Assn. takes another look at West Coast interest tonight when the Minneapolis Lakers play the Cincinnati Royals at the Cow Palace.

The NBA is mulling proposals to move a couple of teams to the West, or to expand and place teams in the West and Southwest.

In the first western NBA game last month, 13,652 fans saw the Boston Celtics whip the Lakers 109-106 in overtime. The lure for that one, however, was not only the great Bob Cousy, but ex-San Francisco stars Bill Russell and K. C. Jones. All three are with Boston.

A preliminary game between musclemen from the San Francisco 49ers and Los Angeles Ram football teams should help the gate.

Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore was managed by the late Jimmy Johnston.

Virginia Tech Cager Looms As Top Scorer

Bob Ayersman Climbs To 4th Place in College Standings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big Bob Ayersman of Virginia Tech has pushed his way in among the top four college basketball scoring leaders while helping produce a threat to West Virginia's domination of the Southern Conference.

The 6-4 sophomore from Boomer, W.Va. scored 47 points Tuesday night to lead Virginia Tech to a 104-66 victory over Richmond. Ayersman tossed in 17 field goals and 13 free throws to set a school single game scoring record.

Ayersman hiked his season's total to 478 points and a 28.1 average for 17 games. The only major college players ahead of him are Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati 32.5 Leo Byrd of Marshall 29.8 and Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech 29.0.

The victory gave Virginia Tech an 8-2 record in the conference.

Ayersman's performance, the 80-72 victory by sixth-ranked North Carolina State over Duke and the end of Missouri's 11-game losing streak were among the noteworthy developments on Tuesday night's program.

Lou Pucillo, North Carolina State's 5-9 guard from Philadelphia, scored 27 points as the Wolfpack picked up their 17th triumph against two setbacks.

Missouri broke the longest losing streak in its history by turning back Oklahoma State 51-44. Missouri won the game at the free throw line, canning 13 of 16 while Oklahoma State managed only 6 of 13. It was Missouri's first victory since beating Rice last Dec. 18.

George Washington came from behind a seven point halftime deficit, tied the score with 53 seconds remaining and defeated Maryland in overtime 66-65. Bill Telasky's jump shot got George Washington even in regulation time. Then Bucky McDonald took over, scoring eight of the Colonials' nine points in the extra period.

In the Southwest Conference, Wade Wolfe scored 15 points before fouling out early in the second half to lead Texas Tech to a 76-54 triumph over Texas and Southern Methodist edged Baylor 54-50 in a tight game during which the lead changed hands 15 times and the score was tied 14 times.

Eastern Kentucky virtually clinched the Ohio Valley Conference championship by whipping Morehead, Ky. 95-77.

In other action, Don Hennon, who has a 27.2 points average for 20 games, had 26 to lead Pittsburgh to a 76-65 victory over Carnegie Tech; Davidson beat winless (0-12) Washington and Lee 84-75 in overtime; Boston University used a fast break to defeat Connecticut for the first time in 24 years, 67-55, and St. Francis (N.Y.) defeated Seton Hall 67-58.

THIRD place defensively went to Williamsport with a 56.4 average. The county's 10 teams split on the .500 percentage mark as Ashville (.555); Saltcreek (.571); Williamsport (.632); Scioto (.813), and Darby ended the season over the mark.

The county's top scoring outfit was Ashville with 1,157 points during the regular season, followed by Darby, 1,151, and Williamsport, 1,118.

Saltcreek allowed its opponents the least amount of points, 714, followed by Walnut, 830, and Darby, 924. Walnut scored the least amount of points, 742, while Ashville allowed the most, 1,143.

Hunters using high power rifles must also learn to lead running game. A deer running perpendicular to the line of fire at 10 miles per hour would have to be given a lead of 1½ feet at 100 yards, and 3½ feet at 200 yards, if the hunter were using a 30-06 rifle and 180 grain bullets.

Hillsboro Five Will Test CHS Friday Night

The Circleville Tigers will be after their second cage win in succession with a trip to Hillsboro Friday night.

Coach Dick Snouffer's Tigers also will be out for a repeat performance. Earlier in the season, the locals, trounced the invading Indians, 54-44.

Again the Tigers will be faced with their old nemesis, the road jinx. To date Circleville has won only two away games, at Waverly and Franklin Heights.

However, the Red and Black forces have proved to be dominating foes on the home floor. They have lost only one test here, a 65-51 verdict to Chillicothe, rated ninth in the state.

* * *

FOLLOWING the pattern of Circleville, Hillsboro always is a rugged competitor on the home floor. Friday night, the Indians trounced visiting Franklin Heights, 49-20, and will be seeking to make the Tigers their second South Central League victim in a row.

Indications are that Coach Snouffer will start the same five which handed Columbus Aquinas a convincing 69-42 defeat here Saturday night. Getting the nod in this test were Forwards Asa Elsea and Jake Bailey, Center Larry Hannahs and Guards Don Rowland and Cal Ellis.

Bailey, joining the Tigers at the start of the second semester, has added a valuable spark to the local hardwood campaign with his spirited floor play and ability to score. His best scoring effort to date was against Aquinas when he racked up 16 points.

City Cage Loop To End Season

Circleville Independent basketball winds up its season Thursday night with three games scheduled at the Pickaway County Coliseum.

The card lists Ashville vs. Yingling Hybrids, Dunlaps vs. Kirk Furniture and River Oil vs. Veterans of Foreign Wars.

River Oil, currently undefeated in loop play, will pit its perfect record against VFW. The VFW quintet is undefeated in second round play.

The Manager Speaks—

Giants To Finish First or Second

By BILL RIGNEY
San Francisco Giants

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) —The Giants were expected to finish sixth last year. We fooled the experts by finishing third. That's because we came up with the finest rookie crop I've ever had the pleasure of seeing.

I think with that year of experience under their belts, the Giants should be even better in 1959. I don't buy that gab about sophomore jinxes. Our key rookies like Orlando Cepeda, Bob Schmidt, Jim Davenport, Leon Wagner, Willie Kirland and Felipe Alou should be be even better.

I thought we could have used more pitching last year—another top flight starter, and a shut-the-door late inning reliefer. Also, I thought another really first class infielder would have tied the whole club together.

We've added Jack Sanford to the starting staff and think he can be one of the league's best. Billy Muffett is the fellow I think can be the relief man answer. A year ago with the Cardinals he was as good as they come. In the infield, I'm hoping that Andre Rodgers can make it at shortstop. That will enable me to play Daryl Spencer at second.

I think Mike McCormick, our fine lefty, will be better. All he lacked last year was a man's matured strength. I thought Allan Worthington was surely going to be a good major league pitcher last year. I still think so. It's about time good luck gave a nod to Stu Miller. And don't forget our ace, Johnny Antonelli.

Every team can always find room for more pitching. But we have the most power and the most prolific run scoring punch in the league. We have good team speed and possibly the greatest collection of throwing arms all around the field that I've seen.

Milwaukee definitely is the team to beat. They are the champions, have a fine team and outstanding pitchers. Pittsburgh has a nicely balanced and now well-seasoned team.

Notice I didn't once mention Willie Mays? What can I say about him that everybody doesn't already know?

He's just the greatest—that's that's all.

Next—Casey Stengel, New York Yankees.

Pro Cagers Plan New Coast Showing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The National Basketball Assn. takes another look at West Coast interest tonight when the Minneapolis Lakers play the Cincinnati Royals at the Cow Palace.

The NBA is mulling proposals to move a couple of teams to the West, or to expand and place teams in the West and Southwest.

In the first western NBA game last month, 13,652 fans saw the Boston Celtics whip the Lakers 109-106 in overtime. The lure for that one, however, was not only the great Bob Cousy, but ex-San Francisco stars Bill Russell and K. C. Jones. All three are with Boston.

A preliminary game between musclemen from the San Francisco 49ers and Los Angeles Ram football teams should help the gate.

Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore was managed by the late Jimmy Johnston.

Esther Williams To Establish Distributorship For Newest Pool Sensation in Circleville

Esther Williams, glamorous President of International Swimming Pool Corporation and world-famous authority on swimming pools . . . as she appeared at a recent distributor conference.

New Living Pool offers unique split-level design for installation anywhere even in rocky or sloping back-yards. It's a full-sized, luxury home pool of steel-reinforced California Redwood with miracle, watertight Poolskin. Penthouse II model shown has a 16' x 32' water area surrounded by a spacious 25' x 41' Redwood sundeck which provides complete recreation area for family sun-bathing and entertaining.

LOCKED OUT!
The self-locking door of the Living Pool provides maximum safety—it keeps children and pets from wandering in when the pool is not in use. A sturdy fence with attractive aqua-colored weather cloth is an integral part of the new pool—providing safety as well as privacy.

NEW PROFIT FRONTIER

- First year potential exceeds initial investment.
- Fastest-growing company in one of America's fastest-growing industries.
- Unprecedented consumer demand . . . a brand name that dominates the industry.
- Multi-million dollar advertising and distributor support program.
- Two complete lines of home and commercial pools . . . the world famous Esther Williams "Supreme" Pools and the amazing new "Living Pool" which triple sales and profit potential.

The Division Marketing Manager for Esther Williams Pools is here to consult with individuals having a sound and successful business background and interest in the exclusive Esther Williams Distributorships available. Home Court Power Showed By 2 Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Call it luck, call it skill, but whatever it is, there's no doubt that Steubenville and Wittenberg use their home basketball courts to the best advantage.

Their latest home court triumphs came Tuesday night. Wittenberg won its ninth consecutive Ohio Conference game, and its 25th straight home court victory, 92-52 over Ohio Wesleyan.

Steubenville gained a 93-84 victory over Central State to post its 62nd straight home court victory.

Elsewhere on the Ohio college cage scene, Wittenberg's rival for the Ohio Conference championship—the Zips of Akron—marked their 16th straight win this season with an 84-50 verdict over Mount Union.

Akron now has a 7-0 conference record, and meets Wittenberg March 3.

In another Ohio Conference tilt, Capital defeated Otterbein 95-88.

Other loop action was in the Mid-Ohio Conference. Findlay led all the way to defeat Ashland 83-64 and thus put the Oilers in a tie with Wilmington for the conference lead. Both have 6-2 loop records.

Bob Showalter of Kent State picked off 23 rebounds to set a new single-game record for his school as the Flashes beat John Carroll 86-64.

In two interstate games, Allegheny of Pennsylvania scored in the final seconds to edge Fenn, 52-50, and Muskingum staved off a last minute rally by Geneva of Pennsylvania to win 90-87.

Wilberforce also fought off a rally by its opposition, Bliss College of Columbus, to post a 90-88 victory.

Kansas State Cage Coach Tries Out His Newest Rules

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Tex Winter says his experiment with some proposed new basketball rules turned out pretty well Monday night but he thinks they need more testing.

Winter, coach of No. 3-ranked Kansas State, had his reserves play a demonstration game. He had two main objectives: To improve officiating and stop the stalling.

Winter put one official on the floor and stationed two others up in a sound-proof booth high in the stands. The idea is to free the officials from the pressure of crowd reaction.

He banned a time clock. The first half ended when one team reached 25 points, and the game stopped after one got 60 (instead of the 50 he first planned).

Here's how it turned out:

The two officials in the booth, using a public address system, called 21 personal fouls. The man on the floor called five more. In addition, 14 minor violations were called.

That means action was stopped 40 times by the whistles. Anybody know how often it happens under present rules? No official figure is available, but some games this season have seen one team alone shoot 50 free throws.

Kite Thomas and Douglas Russell, the cooped-up officials, said they were too far away. Winter said there should be a booth on each side about halfway up in the stands, but Monday night they had to use a single radio booth 'way up there on a wall.

The first half ended in 18 minutes with the score 25-13. The second half ran 30 minutes and the final score was 60-38.

That's 63 minutes elapsed time, including time-outs and intermission, compared with the usual 90 minutes or more.

Top Giant Brains To Be Absent

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The temporary manager as well as Manager Bill Rigney will make a delayed appearance at San Francisco Giant spring training.

Coach Salty Parker notified Giant officials today he won't be able to take charge at Phoenix, Ariz. until next week, probably several days after many players report. He's piloting a club in the Domican Republic League.

Rigney, injured in an auto accident Sunday, named Parker to assume the job until he arrives. Along with a broken jaw, Rigney suffered a fractured collarbone. His wife, Paula, suffered a broken hip.

Vice President Charles (Chub) Feeney said that until Parker checks in the conditioning program will be handled by scouts Frank Shellenback and Tom Sheehan.

Home Court Power Showed By 2 Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Call it luck, call it skill, but whatever it is, there's no doubt that Steubenville and Wittenberg use their home basketball courts to the best advantage.

Their latest home court triumphs came Tuesday night. Wittenberg won its ninth consecutive Ohio Conference game, and its 25th straight home court victory, 92-52 over Ohio Wesleyan.

Steubenville gained a 93-84 victory over Central State to post its 62nd straight home court victory.

Elsewhere on the Ohio college cage scene, Wittenberg's rival for the Ohio Conference championship—the Zips of Akron—marked their 16th straight win this season with an 84-50 verdict over Mount Union.

Akron now has a 7-0 conference record, and meets Wittenberg March 3.

In another Ohio Conference tilt, Capital defeated Otterbein 95-88.

Other loop action was in the Mid-Ohio Conference. Findlay led all the way to defeat Ashland 83-64 and thus put the Oilers in a tie with Wilmington for the conference lead. Both have 6-2 loop records.

Bob Showalter of Kent State picked off 23 rebounds to set a new single-game record for his school as the Flashes beat John Carroll 86-64.

In two interstate games, Allegheny of Pennsylvania scored in the final seconds to edge Fenn, 52-50, and Muskingum staved off a last minute rally by Geneva of Pennsylvania to win 90-87.

Wilberforce also fought off a rally by its opposition, Bliss College of Columbus, to post a 90-88 victory.

Kansas State Cage Coach Tries Out His Newest Rules

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Tex Winter says his experiment with some proposed new basketball rules turned out pretty well Monday night but he thinks they need more testing.

Winter, coach of No. 3-ranked Kansas State, had his reserves play a demonstration game. He had two main objectives: To improve officiating and stop the stalling.

Winter put one official on the floor and stationed two others up in a sound-proof booth high in the stands. The idea is to free the officials from the pressure of crowd reaction.

He banned a time clock. The first half ended when one team reached 25 points, and the game stopped after one got 60 (instead of the 50 he first planned).

Here's how it turned out:

The two officials in the booth, using a public address system, called 21 personal fouls. The man on the floor called five more. In addition, 14 minor violations were called.

That means action was stopped 40 times by the whistles. Anybody know how often it happens under present rules? No official figure is available, but some games this season have seen one team alone shoot 50 free throws.

Kite Thomas and Douglas Russell, the cooped-up officials, said they were too far away. Winter said there should be a booth on each side about halfway up in the stands, but Monday night they had to use a single radio booth 'way up there on a wall.

The first half ended in 18 minutes with the score 25-13. The second half ran 30 minutes and the final score was 60-38.

That's 63 minutes elapsed time, including time-outs and intermission, compared with the usual 90 minutes or more.

Top Giant Brains To Be Absent

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The temporary manager as well as Manager Bill Rigney will make a delayed appearance at San Francisco Giant spring training.

Coach Salty Parker notified Giant officials today he won't be able to take charge at Phoenix, Ariz. until next week, probably several days after many players report. He's piloting a club in the Domican Republic League.

Rigney, injured in an auto accident Sunday, named Parker to assume the job until he arrives. Along with a broken jaw, Rigney suffered a fractured collarbone. His wife, Paula, suffered a broken hip.

Vice President Charles (Chub) Feeney said that until Parker checks in the conditioning program will be handled by scouts Frank Shellenback and Tom Sheehan.

The Manager Speaks --

Craft Optimistic About Athletics

By HARRY CRAFT
Kansas City Athletics

THROCKMORTON, Tex. (AP)—This is the time of the year when every manager is optimistic and I am no exception. I don't mean to imply we're going to be pennant contenders but we should have a sounder, more balanced club.

I thought our biggest weaknesses last year were lack of infield replacements and not enough front-line pitching. Second base is the position we thought would present our biggest problem. Our first draft choice was second baseman Wayne Terwilliger. If he can break in as a regular we will be a much sounder ball club.

In that case, Hector Lopez will move back to third base. Hal Smith did a fine job for us at third and was adequate at first. He wasn't getting enough regular work by splitting the catching duties with Harry Chiti and Frank House.

I think we will be stronger in 1959 through the experiences gained by players like Roger Maris, Chiti, Ralph Terry, Mike Baxes, Ray Herbert, Dick Tomanek and Bob Martyn. Jim Small, Lou Klimchock, Kent Hadley, Jim McManus and Milt Graff have improved. I'm told that Zeke Bella swings a good bat and likes to play.

Our pitching should be much better. Terry is improving from year to year. Herbert was excellent the last two months of the season. Ned Garver is sound physically and a healthy Garver will beat some people. Bob Grim will be in the starting rotation from the beginning. Jack Urban is a battler and if he recovers from his injury of last year, he'll give a good account of himself.

Howard Reed, Ken Johnson and John Tsitouris are youngsters who will be given every opportunity to pitch for us. Reed looked good when he joined us last September. Walt Craddock and Bob Davis should be better pitchers in 1959. Bud Daley, Tomanek and Tom Gorman will draw spot starting and relief assignments.

Our goal still is to make ourselves a strong first-division contender. Because we finished 4½ games out of the first division in '58, makes us believe we're headed in the right direction.

To me, it looks like Detroit and Cleveland have helped themselves through winter trades and should be strong contenders. Chicago will be tough with its pitching and down - the - middle strength. The Yankees are champions until beaten, and are again sound in all departments.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Dreaming Is Perfectly Normal

DEAR ABBY: First let me say I am a very happily married woman so I can't understand why I should dream about all my old boyfriends. For the past few months I have been having the most fantastic dreams about a different one almost every night. When I wake up in the morning I feel so embarrassed I can't look at my husband. I would like to know how I can put a stop to these dreams. Is dreaming bad for you? Am I normal? DREAMER

DEAR DREAMER: You can't stop dreaming, so don't waste your energy worrying about it. Dreaming isn't bad for you, but the feeling of guilt combined with fretting and stewing about things over which you have no control can make you pretty miserable, and even ill. You're normal. Forget it!

DEAR ABBY: What if a man DOES break dishes, smash mirrors and destroy chairs? They are HIS dishes, HIS mirrors and HIS chairs, just as it is his privilege to kick his own automobile (or his own wife) in a fit of emotional rage. Any psychiatrist will tell you that it is healthy for a man to release his pent-up emotions.

SAM

DEAR SAM: When a psychiatrist advises a man to release his pent-up emotions he does not recommend that he kick his wife. He can go out in the garage and take his hostility out on a punching bag. It's a man's privilege to swing his arms, but that privilege ends where the next fellow's nose begins.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I do not take alcoholic beverages as our religion does not permit it. As a result of this we have had many embarrassing moments. How do we handle the situation gracefully when a hostess tries to force a drink on us?, Should we announce that we are forbidden to drink because of religious principles? Or should we simply say," "No, thank you—not right now?"

NON-DRINKERS

DEAR NON: If you offer a weak excuse like "Not right now, thank you," you will be pestered every few minutes by a well-meaning hostess. No one need be ashamed to frankly state that his religion doesn't permit drinking.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Andrade Hopes Luck on Way

Lightweight Slated For Bout Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—Everything happens to Cisco Andrade except good luck.

Twice the lightweight from Compton, Calif., thought he had fought his way to a shot at the title. Twice it was denied him. Twice he has been sidelined by discouraging ailments that were enough to make him think of quitting the ring. Each time he hung on.

When he boxes Frankie Ryff of New York in a Friday bout at Madison Square Garden he hopes he finally will get a real break.

The last time Andrade was in New York—in 1955—he whipped Orlando Zulueta, the clever Cuban. That was supposed to lead to a championship match. Instead, it was Zulueta who got the chance two years later. When he beat ex-champ Jimmy Carter at Chicago in 1956, the Cisco Kid thought he was going to land a fight with the new titleholder, Wallace (Bud) Smith. Instead, Joe Brown got the chance and the title, Joey still has it.

Andrade's sharpest pains, however, have been physical. In 1956, his left elbow pained him. He went to a San Francisco specialist who removed bone chips.

After a layoff of almost a year, Andrade won a decision over Bill Evans in Las Vegas. After the bout his hands hurt, but he took another match and stopped Bud Smith, by then a former champ. Another visit to the San Francisco doctor showed that he had suffered fractures in the Evans bout and had stopped Smith with two broken hands.

Andrade stopped Jorge Mascia late in 1957 and then scored TKOs over Bobby Bell and Lauro Salas before losing to Johnny Gonsalves in Oakland, Calif., last September. He hasn't fought since due to a combination of injuries to opponents, a broken nose, and a bout with the flu.

"Maybe I'll get a break now," he said. "I still hope to get that shot at the title."

The Ryff match falls on Friday —the 13th.

NO ASSIST NEEDED—Probably the world's tallest high school basketballer, Lewis Qualls, who stands 7'1" in his bare feet, appears to be getting an assist from a chair here although he certainly doesn't need it. A senior at Smiley High school in Houston, Tex., Qualls is sifting through some 55 college offers.

Ohio Dems Need 1 More GOP Vote on Sub

Extra Backing Appears Slated in Senate if Vote on Wednesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) bill will come to a floor vote in the Ohio Senate Wednesday if the leaders of the Democratic-dominated Senate can be sure of a third Republican vote.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) says he has all 20 Democratic votes for the proposal to permit simultaneous payment of SUB and state unemployment benefits. Since it is an emergency measure, it requires 22 votes—two-thirds of the Senate membership, both on the emergency clause and on the bill itself.

King told reporters as the sixth legislative week opened that he was sure of one Republican vote and fairly sure of a second. But, he said, he will not schedule the SUB bill for a floor vote Wednesday unless he is assured of a third GOP vote for "insurance."

In advance of the gathering of 172 legislators for a night session, House Democrats began a search for new tax sources to finance fulfillment of their platform pledges. Senate Majority Leader King sat in on the session.

House Speaker James A. Lantz, in charge of the policy session, pointed out inflation has largely eaten up increases in state revenue in recent years.

Lantz said studies indicate, under the present tax pattern, spending of about 733½ millions and income of 630½ in 1959-60. But, he added, a projection for 1962-63 indicates an income of 950 millions and spending at the level of only about 715½ millions.

If taxes are increased 100 million dollars a year, Lantz said, they would last only about three years before they were overtaken by new demands and inflation.

Introduced Monday night were bills to:

Permit the six state-supported colleges and universities to set up substantially uniform entrance requirements. Present law provides Ohio high school graduates must be admitted without examination.

Increase maximum jobless benefits for single persons to $35 a week and married $40 a week (now $33) with a 25-a-week maximum for two dependents at $3 each.

Impose a maximum $1,000 fine and a year in jail for a person, firm, corporation or labor union intimidating or harrassing a circulator of an initiative or referendum petition.

Increase to $20 the amount partially employed may receive before deduction from jobless benefits.

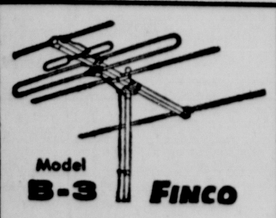

Sen. Ross Pepper (R-Allen) offered a constitutional amendment to require the merger of common pleas and probate courts in counties of less than 30,000 population.

Hypnosis Valued As Lie Detector

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Harry Arons of Newark, N.J., who teaches hypnosis, says the technique can be used as a lie detector.

Arons, who just completed a course in hypnosis for doctors, dentists and psychologists at Southern Methodist University here, said the procedure is this: A suspect is hypnotized and a posthypnotic suggestion is placed in his mind.

Then, after he wakes up, he will react with a specific mannerism every time he tells a lie. His eye will twitch, he will pull an ear or rub his head, for instance.

Ohio Dems Need 1 More GOP Vote on Sub

Extra Backing Appears Slated in Senate if Vote on Wednesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) bill will come to a floor vote in the Ohio Senate Wednesday if the leaders of the Democratic-dominated Senate can be sure of a third Republican vote.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) says he has all 20 Democratic votes for the proposal to permit simultaneous payment of SUB and state unemployment benefits. Since it is an emergency measure, it requires 22 votes—two-thirds of the Senate membership, both on the emergency clause and on the bill itself.

King told reporters as the sixth legislative week opened that he was sure of one Republican vote and fairly sure of a second. But, he said, he will not schedule the SUB bill for a floor vote Wednesday unless he is assured of a third GOP vote for "insurance."

In advance of the gathering of 172 legislators for a night session, House Democrats began a search for new tax sources to finance fulfillment of their platform pledges. Senate Majority Leader King sat in on the session.

House Speaker James A. Lantz, in charge of the policy session, pointed out inflation has largely eaten up increases in state revenue in recent years.

Lantz said studies indicate, under the present tax pattern, spending of about 733½ millions and income of 630½ in 1959-60. But, he added, a projection for 1962-63 indicates an income of 950 millions and spending at the level of only about 715½ millions.

If taxes are increased 100 million dollars a year, Lantz said, they would last only about three years before they were overtaken by new demands and inflation.

Introduced Monday night were bills to:

Permit the six state-supported colleges and universities to set up substantially uniform entrance requirements. Present law provides Ohio high school graduates must be admitted without examination.

Increase maximum jobless benefits for single persons to $35 a week and married $40 a week (now $33) with a 25-a-week maximum for two dependents at $3 each.

Impose a maximum $1,000 fine and a year in jail for a person, firm, corporation or labor union intimidating or harrassing a circulator of an initiative or referendum petition.

Increase to $20 the amount partially employed may receive before deduction from jobless benefits.

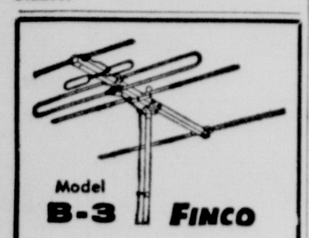

Sen. Ross Pepper (R-Allen) offered a constitutional amendment to require the merger of common pleas and probate courts in counties of less than 30,000 population.
